BBMP's ₹11k cr budget for B'luru under poll glare

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

SETTING the tone for the upcoming elections and taking the state budget forward, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) on Thursday released its 2023-24 budget estimate report of Rs 11,163.97 crore, promising infrastructure boost to the state capital. Last year the budget allocated was Rs 10,947.16 crore which was revised by the state government to Rs 9,927.17 crore, while the actual up to November 2022 was Rs 5,387.39 crore.

Experts and former councillors state that the 2023-24 budget amount is much higher than expected, and pointed out that the BBMP had not adhered to the fiscal responsibility Act and the new Bengaluru Act which states that the budget amount should not exceed Rs 8,000-9,000 crore. Instead it is Rs 1,236.8 crore higher than last year's revised budget estimate.

BBMP officials however said the budget estimate is over Rs 11,000 crore because it includes the Rs 6,000 crore from the state government in the form of grants and Rs 5,000 crore from BBMP's earnings.

As per the suggestion and demand of citizens, a lion's share in the corporation budget has been given to infrastructure works where Rs 4,030 crore is for elevated corridors, grade separators, white topping and other civil works. A special allocation of Rs 15 lakh per ward has been made for sealing of potholes.

The next essential sector which has gained traction in the corporation budget is healthcare. While the BBMP has not made any large allocations dedicated to the sector, the corporation has taken forward the schemes announced in the state budget and extended schemes that were announced last year. An allocation of Rs 165 crore has been made for the health segment.

Realising the tourism potential in the city, the corporation has decided to create the first-ever tourism circuit in the city. P6,9

POLL VERDICT

N-E fillip to BJP momentum

Retains power in Tripura and Nagaland; Meghalaya's mandate remains fractured

First women to make it to Naga House

Women made their debut in the Nagaland House by winning two seats. Hekhani Jakhalu and Salhoutuonuo Kruse are from the ruling NDPP. Jakhalu is the founder of YouthNet Nagaland. Kruse was head of Angami Women Organisation

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

WITH the BJP and its allies retaining power in Tripura and Nagaland, and the Meghalaya polls throwing up a fractured mandate again, the saffron party kept up its winning momentum ahead of next year's Lok Sabha elections.

There are a host of factors that gave the NDA a significant victory. The first, of course,was the BJP poll machine that leaves no room for complacency. Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union home minister Amit Shah made all the right noises while Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma, the 'Chanakya of Northeast', kept his ear to the ground.

In Tripura, Shah told people that the Congress, CPM and the tribe-based TIPRA Motha were in a tacit alliance, adding their victory would bring the spectre of terror back in the state.

Tripura's nearly 70% voters are Bengalis. Sarma sought to allay the fear of Bengalis by rejecting TIPRA Motha's Greater Tipraland statehood demand outright. This is believed to have led to consolidation of Bengali votes in BJP's favour.

Other factors that worked for the BJP include its pro-poor initiatives like constructing 1.6 lakh houses; hike in monthly social allowance; and increase in dearness allowance of government employees. Besides, it had a better grip on law and order unlike the Left Front, which ruled for 25 years (1993-2018).

I humbly thank the people of Tripura, Nagaland and Meghalaya. These people have blessed the BJP and its allies. Northeast India is now not far from Delhi and from dil (heart) - Narendra Modi, PM

In Meghalaya, the results indicate people did not accept the Trinamool Congress, which made a lot of noise but failed to give a fight to National People's Party (NPP). It had a backdoor entry into the state after 12 Congress MLAs jumped ship in November 2021. Chief Minister Conrad K Sangma, who heads NPP, asked people to be wary of Trinamool, stating it is a party of 'outsiders' which protects illegal immigrants. His oblique reference was to the Trinamool's anti-NRC stance.

The Trinamool made some inroads into Garo Hills, but failed miserably in Khasi and Jaintia Hills. The BJP is ready to do business with the NPP, though in the run-up to the polls Shah had said he would get corruption charges against Conrad Sangma investigated.

In Nagaland, the BJP's worry was more about handling ally Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP) because there is no opposition worth its name. That BJP-NDPP combine would return to power was a forgone conclusion. P12

SC forms expert panel to probe loss to investors

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday appointed a six-member expert committee headed by former SC judge A M Sapre to suggest changes required in the regulatory framework in the wake of allegations of stock manipulation against the Adani group. The other members of the panel are ex-SBI chairman O P Bhatt, Justice J P Devadhar (retired), veteran banker K V Kamath, technocrat Nandan Nilekani and lawyer Somasekharan Sundaresan.

A bench led by Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud said the constitution of the committee was imperative to protect Indian investors from volatility and to assess the regulatory framework to strengthen it. The court tasked the committee with providing an overall assessment of the situation including the relevant factors which led to volatility in the securities market in the recent past, suggesting measures for strengthening investor awareness, statutory or regulatory framework and securing compliance with the existing framework.

The panel has also been asked to investigate whether there was any regulatory failure in dealing with the Adani issue and submit its report within two months in a sealed cover.

Noting that Sebi is already investigating the matter, the bench, also comprising judges P S Narasimha and J B Pardiwala, directed it to probe whether there has been a violation of 19A of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Rules 1957 (which mandates firms to maintain at least 25% public shareholding). The court asked Sebi to conclude its probe in two months and file a status report.

The bench clarified that the constitution of the panel will not divest SEBI of its power to investigate volatility in the securities market. P15

@Kalaburagi

IN a bizarre incident, a man allegedly strangled his wife to death over her 'dark complexion' at Kellur village of Jewargi taluk on Wednesday. The deceased is Farzana Begum (28) who hailed from Shahapur taluk of Yadgir district.

Farzana's cousin Khurshid told TNIE that she married the accused Khaja Patel seven years ago and the couple has two children aged four and two. Khurshid alleged that Patel used to torture Farzana over her skin colour and always taunted her that she can never get the look of a heroine no matter how much powder she applied to her face. Farzana had brought the matter to the notice of her parents. Khurshid added that Patel and his family members also tortured the victim by demanding more dowry, accusing her of not matching their status.

The incident came to light when a milkman in Kellur informed Khurshid over phone about Farzana's death. He along with Farzana's parents rushed to Kellur and found the two children next to the body. P9

No joint statement in foreign ministers' meet as Ukraine issue takes centre stage

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

THE G20 foreign ministers' meet concluded in New Delhi on Thursday without a joint statement due to sharp rift between the West and Russia over the Ukraine conflict despite efforts by host India to bridge the differences.

"We worked hard to get on the same page but there were a few differences. The good point is that on most issues we all were in agreement," said External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar.

However, a 'Chair's summary and outcome document' was issued for the first time in a G20 foreign ministers' meeting. The document mentioned two paragraphs on the Ukraine conflict but the footnote said all countries, except Russia and China, agreed to them. The two paragraphs were taken from G20's Bali declaration.

Notably, US Secretary of State Anthony Blinken and Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov spoke with each other on the sidelines of the meeting. "I spoke with Lavrov and asked him to end this aggression and bring about peace through dialogue and diplomacy. I also requested him to release Paul Whelan (former US marine facing a 16-year jail term in Russia after he was arrested in 2018 on suspicion of spying)," said Blinken adding that there were many issues which every member had a consensus on.

Meanwhile, Lavrov said Russia did not reject any proposal to find a political situation to the Ukraine conflict. Praising India's efforts in this direction, he said: "Our relationship with India is characterised as special strategic partnership... We appreciate the dignified position of India." P11

The duo held discussions on the G20 framework and also about restoring peace in the border areas. India has been maintaining its ties with China cannot be normal unless there is peace in the border areas.

A new system to fight pandemic diseases

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

LEARNING lessons from the Covid pandemic, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) allocated Rs 2 crore in its budget to set up the Bangalore Health System (BHS) to effectively tackle pandemic situations due to outbreak of viral and bacterial diseases.

The budget also announced a 'One Health Plan' to prevent zoonotic diseases, which is spread from animals to humans. "Bengaluru has central government-run medical institutions like NIMHANS, ESI and others. In addition, we have state government hospitals like Victoria, Bowring, Minto and other institutions. The BBMP also runs several referral hospitals. But, due to lack of coordination between all these centres, patients go to private hospitals for advanced treatment. To address this, BHS will be set up at a cost of Rs 2 crore," said BBMP Special Commissioner Finance Jayaram Raipura, while presenting the budget.

He said the proposed health system will ensure medical care for all patients through call centres, help desks, free enrolment and free treatment. It will follow up on medical care by maintaining medical records of patients.

"It will also ensure prevention of pandemic diseases and other viral-bacterial diseases," said Raipura.

Raipura said under the 'One Health Plan', a hi-tech Laboratory and Metropolitan Monitoring Centre will be set up at a cost of Rs 5 crore to study disease spread from animals to humans from polluted environments.

To ensure that all 243 wards have a Primary Health Centre (PHC), the budget has allocated Rs 92 crore to set up 61 PHCs.

However, public health doctor and researcher Dr Sylvia Karpagam said mere construction of PHCs is not enough as they should be equipped to benefit the needy.

Animal lovers cheer combo anti-rabies vaccine for strays

Bengaluru: Animal lovers have welcomed the BBMP budget that has earmarked Rs 20 crore to administer a five-in-one anti-rabies vaccine to stray dogs and Rs 5 crore to set up two electric crematoriums for animals. Animal rights activist Arun Prasad claimed that the Palike is the first municipal corporation in India to announce a 'canine core vaccine'. "According to the 2019 dog census, there are nearly 2.45 lakh stray dogs in Bengaluru. They are prone to Canine distemper, leptospirosis, canine parvovirus and other dreaded viral infections. The life span of stray dogs is around 15 years. However, if they are infected with these, they die in a year. With the announcement of the 'canine core vaccine', the painful death of stray dogs can be prevented," said Prasad. He also welcomed the construction of two electric crematoriums. "For a big city like Bengaluru, there is only one crematorium for animals, in Sumanahalli. The city needs multiple crematoriums," he said.To control the stray dog menace, the budget also aims to double the number of spaying and neutering of stray dogs. — Aknisree Karthik

Big push to turn B'luru into tourist city

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

IN a big push to realise the tourism potential of the city, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike budget has proposed creating the first-ever tourism circuit in the city, covering Kempambudhi lake, Bull Temple Road, Sankey Tank, Kadumalleshwara Temple, Halasuru Lake and Someshwara Temple. The Palike has allocated Rs 180 crore for this project.

The BBMP has also allocated Rs 50 crore to create 'city plazas' in residential areas. "Ten city plazas will be developed in residential areas. These will have fountains, play areas, food courts and open spaces for rest and recuperation," Special Finance Commissioner Jayaram Raipura said while presenting the budget.

While welcoming the move, urban expert V Ravichander expressed concern on the maintenance of city plazas, contending that the Palike is not clear about monetization of such spaces and will only incur expenditure.

Urban designer Naresh Narasimhan also lauded this concept. "People coming to our city should be made aware of our history and tradition and these spaces will help in achieving that goal," he said.

To increase the green cover in the city, 15 parks will be created at a cost of Rs 15 crore. This apart, Rs 80 crore has been allocated for the maintenance of existing parks.

A tourism circuit that will come up in the city at a cost of Rs 180 crore will cover hotspots like Bull Temple Road | EXPRESS

E-Asthi-2 to be launched in West, South

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

'E-ASTHI' that was started in Bengaluru East, would be extended to West and South Zone this year with an upgraded version, 'E-Asthi-2', BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath told the media after the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike budget presentation by Special Commissioner Jayaram Raipura.

Echoing him, Raipura said E-Asthi-2 will be implemented in the three core zones of the Palike. Girinath said to generate more revenue, the conversion of 'B' to 'A' Khatha has been initiated, and once the state government gives the green signal to amend the Karnataka Land Revenue Act and Country and Town Planning Act, the Palike will get about Rs 800 crore annually.

Having already collected Rs 3,758 crore in property tax in 2022, BBMP has set a new target of Rs 4,412 crore. "We have recorded 24 per cent increase in property tax collection, and hence increased the target. The present target is 27 per cent and is achievable," said Raipura.

Now that 243 wards have been formed, Rs 2 crore has been given to each ward for civil works. The Palike has also allocated Rs 300 crore for 110 villages that were merged into the BBMP, they said.

MORE CONCRETE AND LESS GREEN, BUT CITIZENS HAVE A BIGGER SAY

I WAS pleasantly surprised to see a fully packed Town Hall for the BBMP Budget presentation today. Besides BBMP officials and media, I saw many citizens. While the presence of citizens did not make up for the fact that the budget should have been presented by the chairperson of the Standing Committee (finance minister of BBMP) to the Council, with the mayor and corporators, it was good to see BBMP make efforts to invite citizens.

Decentralisation has been taking root in the BBMP for the past couple of years, ever since Covid made it clear that ward-level interventions are key for effective delivery of services, with active citizen engagement in the form of Ward Committees. BBMP must be commended for continuing to hold ward committee meetings twice a month across all 243 wards, and increasing ward level allocations to Rs 2 crore this year, the highest so far. This means citizens have a bigger say in how these funds are spent in their wards, though it is yet to be realised in practical terms. BBMP seems to be committed to zonal and divisional level decentralisation, and the intent to consider reforms suggested by the Administrative Reforms Committee is a positive sign.

BBMP articulated the new model for solid waste management in the budget, a key part of this is the call for self-sufficient wards that have both dry and wet waste processing, something that has been a long-pending demand and finally seems to be taking shape. The less waste that travels, the better it is. We need to eliminate landfills completely, and citizens have a big role to play in making this happen as we, the citizens, produce all the waste, not the BBMP!

SRINIVAS ALAVILLI
(Citizen activist)

I was happy to see BBMP move forward on the welfare of street vendors, though the budget allocation of Rs 25 crore seems too low. Street vendors are an integral part of our daily city life, yet they have been pushed and pulled in many directions. I hope this year, street vendors will be given due recognition and dignity.

BBMP's obsession with flyovers comes to the fore once again in this budget. As the budget highlights, we already have 42 flyovers and 28 underbridges, yet ours is the most congested city. BBMP needs to realise that the focus must be on public transport, walking and cycling. Unlike the metro, bus and suburban train, walking and cycling are entirely under the aegis of BBMP, and are a big part of fighting climate change. BBMP should have gone all out to make Bengaluru the best in our country for walking and cycling.

While I'm happy to see a well balanced budget that reflects better fiscal discipline than previous years, I feel both the Union and state governments do not share a fair share of tax revenues that Bengaluru produces. How will the city manage growth without massive investment in infrastructure and capacities of municipal corporations? The paltry sum of Rs 461 crore from the Government of India is a stark reminder that Bengaluru gives plenty to the nation but doesn't get it back.

03rd March: Today's top sign is Taurus, which is what we call a 'fixed-earth' sign. By this we mean that it is practical and stubborn. The typical Taurean likes to get things done and relies on determination and consistency to achieve this. If these people have a weakness, it's a failure to change when change is necessary. For Taureans, flexibility can be a virtue worth cultivating.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You have too many chores to be able to do everything. This may well be the perfect time to offload certain responsibilities and allow others to decide how such matters should be handled. You may not be good at delegating essential jobs, but it's never too late to learn!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The past few months have sometimes been mentally as well as physically exhausting. The Sun is now moving close enough to an intriguing relationship with Pluto to remind you that, in order to achieve your goals, you must spend as much time as you need on rest and recuperation.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You really do seem to have the whip-hand, but I suspect that you are only now at the very beginning of a phase when you will discover your true strength. Do not throw your weight around prematurely. But, then, I am sure I don't have to remind you that subtlety is the best policy.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There's still a very strong chance that something is going to happen to make you feel hurt or undermined. However, there is no reason why you should read anything which is unintended into chance remarks. If you're not sure what a partner means, then say so!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
People who have let you down may not deserve good treatment, but neither should your rush to take revenge. After all, first you have to ascertain that their motives were bad. Otherwise you should just accept that mistakes were made. Do not allow financial considerations to sway your actions.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The planets will add a dash of emotion to your sign today, compelling you to face up to long-forgotten feelings. On a completely mundane level, you should exert your power at home and brook no opposition. But whether that strategy works or not will depend on your sense of timing.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Mars is now making its aggressive presence felt over a part of your chart concerned with ethics, morals and legal questions. You may therefore wish to make your views known over the coming week or so, but I'd advise you now not to bend the rules - at least, not too far.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You are having a reminder of what happened three months' ago and a taste of what is likely to take place in about three months' time. Don't fall into the trap of imagining that this is your last chance, regardless of whether your concern is private or professional.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon's emotional passage through your solar chart can be confused, and your precise intentions are not always easy to pin down. You may be critical of low standards, which is fine, but also much too fussy, which is not. Be tolerant of other people's little foibles.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Before you explore new possibilities, do investigate the ethical alternatives. It might be that there's a better way to do things. Also, check up to see if an overseas contact or a foreign friend has something to offer. If it's advice you're after, women may be a better bet than men.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You appear to be more concerned about your short-term happiness than about others' feelings but, quite honestly, it is high time that certain people stopped relying on you. Get your priorities straight as soon as you can, and then at least partners will be able to decide whether to support you or not.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
New planetary alignments are bound to lead you along strange and exciting paths. You can afford to be optimistic socially, and organise whatever meetings will enable you to appreciate your friends to the full. Younger or more experienced friends might set the pace.

MAN POISONS WIFE & TWO YOUNG DAUGHTERS, ATTEMPTS TO KILL SELF

32-year-old accused was diagnosed with cancer, had frequent fights with wife

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN a shocking incident, a 32-year-old man allegedly murdered his 27-year-old wife and two daughters aged 5 and 7 by feeding them poison before attempting suicide, at Vaddarapalya, Jamboo Savari Dinne, in Konanakunte police station limits, on Thursday.

The accused, Nagendra, a habitual drunkard, has been booked for murder.

Frequent fights between the couple are said to be the reason for the ghastly incident.

The deceased have been identified as Vijayalakshmi, Deeksha (7) and Nisha (5).

The police said that the couple got married in 2014 and the relationship had soured as Nagendra had turned a habitual drunkard and fought with Vijayalakshmi regularly.

The incident came to light at 10.30am on Monday when Vijayalakshmi's sister Lalitha asked her husband to go and check on Vijayalakshmi as the latter was not answering her phone calls. When he went to Vijayalakshmi's house, no one opened the door. He peeped through a window to find the bodies of her daughters. He broke open the door to find Vijayalakshmi's body too while Nagendra was trying to hang himself to a window grill.

"As per the preliminary investigation, Nagendra fed them rat poison mixed with food and decided to kill himself. Domestic problems are suspected to be the reason while we are questioning the accused," the police said.

Vijayalakshmi's mother alleged that Nagendra didn't work and it was her daughter who worked in a pharmacy and ran the family. "He was a cancer patient and my daughter took care of the expenses too. Despite that, he used to fight with her daily. We advised Vijayalakshmi to leave him and come to us. But she didn't listen," she said.

The Konanakunte police have registered a murder case and are further investigating.

Now, IISc to contribute to training platform Sathee

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Indian Institute of Science (IISc) will be one of the contributors of the Self Assessment Test and Help for Entrance Exams (Sathee) initiative, which is to be launched soon. Sathee is an initiative spearheaded by the ministry of education to help students gain access to training and coaching for competitive examinations for free. The ministry will be collaborating with the Indian Institute of Technology - Kanpur, to launch the initiative.

University Grants Commission chairman Mamidala Jagadesh Kumar on Thursday announced that the launch of Sathee would take place at 10.45am on March 6 by Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan. It will give students a self-paced interactive learning and assessment platform to prepare for competitive and other exams, he added.

The UGC chairman said that contribution to learning material would be made by both IIT-Kanpur and IISc. "This platform aims to bridge the gap for students in society who can't afford costly entrance exam guidance and coaching. Sathee aims to make students learn the concepts and focus on topics in which they are weak, so they feel confident to write any exam by watching videos prepared by IIT and IISc faculty members," he said. The interactive programme is currently open for coaching help for JEE and NEET. It makes use of an indigenously-developed AI programme called Prutor, which was developed through IIT-Kanpur.

TAC: Stay alert to tackle heat-related ailments

NAMRATA SINDWANI @Bengaluru

THE state's Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) has recommended to the Karnataka Health Department to perform clinical and energy auditing in government-run health centres to ensure preparedness for heat-related ailments in Karnataka in case the temperature soars drastically in the upcoming months.

This comes in the wake of the National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC) issuing an advisory on March 1 directing all state nodal officers under National Programme for Climate Change and Human Health (NPCCHH) to formulate a heat action plan to reduce morbidity and mortality caused due to extreme heat. It was issued after February 2023 was recorded as the hottest month after 122 years. The temperature is expected to rise drastically in the upcoming summer months with heat waves expected in certain parts.

The TAC was directed to evaluate the advisory issued by the Union Health Ministry and give suggestions, if any. The committee said besides IVF fluids and Oral Rehydration Solutions (ORS), coconut water is a good substitute in case a person is suffering from dehydration, and it should be made available in places wherever possible.

Dr Shariff, Deputy Director, Karnataka Health Department, said they have received the TAC committee's report and are planning to issue an advisory for the people of Karnataka in four to five days. He said the health centres in the state have appropriate stock of IVF and other fluids required and can be procured accordingly in case of any shortage.

NCDC has advised procurement and supply of adequate quantities of ORS packs, essential medicines and ice packs to support heat stroke cases or electrolyte imbalance. Sufficient drinking water must also be ensured at all health facilities.

It has also recommended monitoring of heat-related ailments and maintaining a list of heat stroke cases and deaths (suspected/confirmed) at all facilities. The state and disaster management authorities must also work in sync to identify cases in remote areas as well.

Veerashaiva Lingayat leaders meet Congress brass, seek tickets

Hope to rake in votes with community strongman BSY retreating from the frontline

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

A delegation of Congress leaders from the Veerashaiva Lingayat community, led by Veerashaiva Mahasabha president Shamanuru Shivashankarappa, called on AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge and KPCC president DK Shivakumar here on Thursday evening, and put forth a proposal to issue party tickets to as many as 68 aspirants from the community, in the upcoming assembly polls.

With former CM BS Yediyurappa no longer in the forefront as BJP's chief ministerial candidate, community leaders from the Congress are apparently trying to make the most of it by winning more seats for the party, and pushing one of their leaders for the chief minister's post, according to sources.

"Yediyurappa seeking the community's votes as CM candidate is different from seeking it for the party," remarked a Congress leader, hoping that this factor works in favour of the Congress, but added that it also depends on how things pan out. The delegation included former MLA Vinay Kulkarni, veteran leader Allum Veerbhadrappa, and former deputy mayor of Bengaluru C S Puttaraju, who presented the candidate shortlist. "This time, we have not restricted ourselves to North Karnataka, as the community has considerable votes even in Old Mysuru region, including Chikkamagaluru district," Veerabhadappa told The New Indian Express.

The assembly constituencies of Chikkamagaluru, Kadur and Tarikere can be won by fielding the community's leaders, whereas in Arasikere the Congress may back incumbent MLA K M Shivalinge Gowda of the JDS, as he is looking to switch to the grand old party.

In the 2018 assembly polls, the Congress had fielded 43 community members, of whom 16 won, clocking a success rate of 37 per cent, despite the Congress regime facing anti-incumbency. The issue of separate religion status, promoted by then chief minister Siddaramaiah and his cabinet colleague M B Patil, was also a factor. By and large, members of the community, including leaders in the BJP, had alleged that the then government was attempting to divide the community by promising separate status. This backfired on the Congress, and this time, the party has decided not to make it a poll plank. "It will not be part of the party's manifesto. We as a community will take a call collectively on the issue," clarified Patil.

QUOTA ROW: PANCHAMASALI LINGAYATS TO BLOCK ROADS TOMORROW

BENGALURU: Panchamasali Lingayats, who will complete 50 days of their agitation on March 4 seeking reservation under category 2A, have decided to block roads for an hour at 11am on Saturday. Basava Jaya Mruthyunjaya Swamiji, pontiff of Kudalasangama Mutt, said that the agitation that began in Bengaluru's Freedom Park on Sankranti (January 14) will enter its 50th day on March 4. He said the community is unhappy with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and hence, they are taking up the agitation. The organisers said the national highways, district roads, and village roads across the state will be blocked for about an hour starting 11am on Saturday by the community members. In addition to rasta roko on March 4, the organisers said that the agitation will go from constituency to constituency virtually to all the 224 constituencies by March 15 which is the final deadline set by them for the government to include them under the 2A category. The community members have also decided to carry flowers on their ears as a symbol of protest. They alleged that they were promised reservation but have been cheated by the government. ENS

CM TO GIVE ₹5CR FOR RAJAHANSAGAD FORT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

IT'S a pleasure to unveil the statue of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, the leader who fought bravely for the protection of Hinduism, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said on Thursday, at Rajahansagad Fort in Belagavi Rural. He announced that an additional grant of Rs 5 crore would be released for the development of Rajahansagad Fort.

The grant will be used to construct a community hall, rest house and other basic facilities, and convert the fort into a tourist destination, he said. In 2008, then chief minister BS Yediyurappa had sanctioned Rs 14 crore to develop Rajahansagad Fort, when Janardhan Reddy was tourism minister. "Rajahansagad is an amazing fort. It exudes the past glory and culture of Shivaji Maharaj. The statue was installed in keeping with the personality of Shivaji Maharaj. The fort will be developed in the coming days," said Bommai. The programme was jointly organised by the district administration, Kannada and Culture department, Karnataka Rural Infrastructure Development Limited and Tourism department. Hundreds of people, including the villagers of Rajahansagad, participated. Belagavi Rural MLA Hebbalkar remained absent, and will unveil the statue once again on March 5.

District in-charge minister Govind Karjol, MP Mangala Angadi, Gokak MLA Ramesh Jarkiholi, Belagavi North MLA Anil Benake, Belagavi South MLA Abhay Patil, and officials were present, while Deputy Commissioner Nitesh Patil welcomed the gathering.

CONG GOVT DID NOT RELEASE FUNDS: CM

"I will bring Siddaramaiah to Rajahansagad Fort to unveil the statue of Shivaji Maharaj once again, if he has sanctioned a single rupee for its development from 2013 to 2018," CM Bommai challenged the former chief minister. He told reporters that his government had released Rs 50 lakh to start the work. "We have no objection if MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar wants to hold another inauguration. The fort is a public place and the government has the right to decide on the date of inauguration," he said. The fort will be developed into a major tourism spot. The government has reserved funds for 'pilgrimage tourism' and it will be utilised to restore temples and forts built in the era of the Chalukyas, Hoysalas, Rashtrakutas and Kadamabas, he added.

Credit war over fort

A 'credit war' is raging between Belagavi Rural MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar and BJP leaders Sanjay Patil and Ramesh Jarkiholi over the development of the fort. Hebbalkar has claimed that she made special efforts to sanction funds and take up work, while previous MLA Sanjay Patil said he had taken up the proposal to develop the fort. Jarkiholi is supporting him.

Hebbalkar had questioned the interference of Jarkiholi in works of her constituency, and announced that she would unveil the statue again on March 5.

'BJP will make K'taka most developed southern state'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

CALLING Belagavi the 'head' of Karnataka due its geographical location, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said that the district will prove lucky for the BJP as the party has won elections in two north-eastern states on the day when the BJP's Vijaya Sankalpa Yatra was flagged off at Nandagad village in Khanapur taluk of the district on Thursday.

He also said that the day is not far when Karnataka will become the most developed state of south India and the credit for it will go to the BJP government headed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. He particulary mentioned the hi-tech airport in Shivamogga which was recently inaugurated by PM Modi. "BJP is not only developing air connectivity, but also road connectivity", he added.

Hitting out at the Congress, he said what that party could not do for decades, the BJP government did within nine years. "The BJP government has built 3.5 lakh km long village roads and 80,000 km National Highway", he said.

Rajnath recalled the sacrifices of freedom fighters like Rani Chennamma and Sangolli Rayanna who were from Karnataka. These are great personalities known for their valour not only in India but across the globe, he said, adding, stories of Sangolli Rayanna, who was the military chief of Rani Chennamma, inspires crores of Indians. He said he considers himself lucky to be able to pray and seek blessings at the memorial of Rayanna at Nandagad.

Rajnath said that Modi wants development of Karnataka, one example of which is Tumakuru, where a Hindustan Aeronautics limited (HAL) unit has been set up which will generate employment.

State submits delimitation notification before HC

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE State Government submitted the notification of delimitation on holding elections to Taluk Panchayats and Zilla Panchayats before the Karnataka High Court on Thursday. A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Ashok S Kinagi adjourned the hearing to April 12, 2023.

The State Election Commission had moved the HC in 2021 by filing a PIL seeking directives to the state to hold TP and ZP polls. The HC on December 14, 2022 imposed Rs 5 lakh cost on the state while observing, "We don't hesitate to observe that the approach of the state and the Delimitation Commission is not very positive either on following the mandate of law or the direction of the SCApex Court which would make the orders of this court ineffective" to hold elections to the TPs and ZPs.

With multiple ticket aspirants, Congress calls for meet on March 8

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Congress, which is in a dilemma in finalising candidates in 25 Assembly constituencies where there are more aspirants, is holding a meeting with them at a resort on the outskirts of Bengaluru on March 8. KPCC leaders, who are striving to release the list of candidates for the upcoming Assembly elections at the earliest, are struggling to finalise their candidates from at least 25 constituencies.

The proposed meeting will be attended by AICC general secretary in-charge of Karnataka Randeep Surjewala, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, KPCC president DK Shivakumar and others.

According to informed sources, the leaders are expected to convince candidates to opt out of the race and let the strongest and winnable candidate fight the polls.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, a senior Congress leader said, "We started preparing for the polls much ahead of the other parties. We aim to win not less than 150 seats. In some of the constituencies, we have sitting MLAs who are winnable candidates and we have no issues in these constituencies. But we are facing challenges in those seats where leaders from the BJP and JDS have joined our party. If we have to touch the 150-seat mark, we need to give tickets to winnable candidates... and if we give tickets to such candidates (who are from other parties), our local leaders will get upset. This is a tricky situation," the leader said.

School kits a rip-off, alleges Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE labour department has approved a total of 2,67,556 school kits at an average cost of Rs 5,000 per kit, to be distributed in this academic year.

Two types of kits will be distributed for Classes 1 to 5 and Classes 6 to 8, and were approved at a board meeting last year.

Congress leaders Priyank Kharge, Chittapur MLA, and Ramesh Babu alleged that the kits were a rip-off because items in the kits were available in the market at half the price quoted by the labour department. The kits would cost the department Rs 33.77 crore.

An official government circular on September 1, 2022, had stated that a kit containing 35 items had been distributed to children of Class 1 to 5, the tender price of which was Rs 7,500. The price of kits distributed to children of Class 6 to 8 was Rs 9,000.

The labour department has allocated a total of Rs 38.47 crore through tenders, while the department has spent a total of Rs 27.80 crore, the Congress leaders said, and alleged that money from the workers' welfare fund had been looted by unscrupulous people in the government.

BJP'S LOSS IN ASSEMBLY ELECTIONS IS IMMINENT, SAYS SIDDARAMAIAH

BELAGAVI: Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Thursday expressed confidence of the Grand Old Party winning the upcoming Assembly elections in Karnataka. "I have got to know from my sources that the Congress will come to power for sure. BJP's defeat in the polls is imminent," he told the gathering at the Praja Dhwani Yatra at Nandagad in Khanapur district. He claimed that the Congress government between 2013 and 2018 implemented the promises it made in its election manifesto. "Of the 165 promises in the manifesto, the Congress fulfilled most of them during my term," he added. He took a dig at the BJP government saying the party reduced the quantum of free rice given to BPL families from 7kg to 5 kg. He said the Congress will give 10-kg free rice to every BPL family if it comes to power this year. The Congress government spent huge funds for the development of Nandagad, where Sangolli Rayanna was hanged by the British, he said, while hitting out at the BJP for launching the party's Vijaya Sankalpa Yatra on March 2 from Nandagad without working for the town's development. He also promised that the Congress would set aside Rs 4,000 crore for the development of Khanapur constituency. ENS

This IT company in Sirsi provides a platform for local tech talent

The ALT Digital Technologies company in Sirsi | EXPRESS

LITTLE away from the temple town of Sirsi, amid forests and agricultural fields, one can find a new building that is like no other in the vicinity. The new set up is making heads turn and people are curious to see that the tech talents from their village are being employed there. And Why not! Sirsi now has its first full-fledged IT start-up company. The company - ALT Digital Technologies - with its head office in Noida had started basic operations in a small setup in Sirsi a year ago.

The co-founder of the company, Goutam Bengle, who was born in a small village of Sirsi always had the dream of setting up something useful in his hometown.

The company has now started operations from Sirsi with a good team of 10 tech talent sourced from the towns of Uttara Kannada district. "Presently we have 10 employees working with us and next week we have a placement drive in which five more employees will be hired. We are a tech support provider company working with top domestic and global companies," said Bengle.

The employees, who are working in the Sirsi office, are paid the same salary as their counterparts in Noida or any other branch of the company. "It is a common scene in Malnad to see youth working in metro cities and abroad while their aged parents remain in the villages and towns. We could reverse this by bringing such companies to small towns. There are a number of engineers from Karnataka who are sitting in top positions abroad and they can surely think of generating employment in their villages," Bengle added.

"The idea of setting up an IT company in the village was mooted during the peak of Covid-19 pandemic. The company was founded by Vikas Goyal. We were assigned to work from home and then we decided to open a branch here. Nowadays every village has digital connectivity and many more areas are getting new connections. The Beyond Bengaluru concept that is being promoted by the State Government will surely help companies settle in smaller towns like Sirsi," he added.

TS govt wants Guv to pass Bills, moves SC

ENS @ Hyderabad

THE tussle between the Raj Bhavan and Pragathi Bhavan reached New Delhi as the Telangana government filed a special leave petition against Governor Tamilisai Soundararajan in the Supreme Court on Thursday, stating that she did not give her assent to 10 Bills. The state government pleaded with the apex court to direct the Governor to give her assent to the pending Bills.

The government, in its SLP, which is likely to come up for hearing on Friday, said: "Telangana is constrained to move before this court under its extraordinary jurisdiction as conferred under Article 32 of the Constitution, in view of a very frequent constitutional impasse created on account of the refusal of the Governor of Telangana to act on several Bills passed by the Legislature. These Bills are pending since September 14, 2022, till date for the assent of the Governor."

The government made Secretary to the Governor the respondent. "The present writ petition under Article 32 is being filed by the petitioner as the state is left with no other option and keeping in view the importance and magnitude of the issue on hand is constrained to approach this court seeking appropriate reliefs," it said.

"It is respectfully submitted that the Constitution cannot be kept static in the matter of legislative actions of the state and by reason of the Bills kept pending, without any legitimate reasons, results in chaotic situations, nothing short of creating lawlessness and in all sobriety, the Hon'ble Governor should have acted in discharge of the constitutional mandate of assenting to the Bills...," the petition said.

Kalaburagi Rural DySP Umesh Chikmath said a dowry death case has been registered and the police are waiting for the postmortem report. He added that the police are on the lookout for the accused.

Meanwhile, state unit vice-president of Janawadi Mahila Sanghatane (JMS) Neela K told TNIE that JMS will send a team to Kellur to find out the reasons behind Farzana's death. "Even if the deceased has committed suicide and the torture allegations are true, the death will be considered a murder", she said. She demanded that the Women's Rights Commission should register a suo-moto case and hold an inquiry into the incident.

MUDA RE-SELLS SAME SITE, ORDERED TO PAY ₹11.88 LAKH

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

MYSURU Urban Development Authority (MUDA) has been directed by the Bangalore Urban District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission to pay Rs 11.88 lakh with 10 per cent interest pa from the date of incurring expenses to the complainant, residing in Bengaluru, for defrauding him by re-selling the same site in an auction which was sold to the complainant through the auction 10 years ago.

"MUDA has committed deficiency of service and fraud in including the site already sold to the complainant in 2007 in the second auction in 2016. The complainant lost his site and went through mental agony and financial loss," the commission said, while partly allowing the complaint filed by DR Mukunda, resident of Sir MV Layout.

The commission, comprising president M Shobha, and other members said that MUDA is liable to refund the amount spent by the complainant for getting the absolute sale deed of site No.45 at Bogadi, for its cancellation, new sale deed of site No.65, khata charges, annual property tax, travelling and other expenses amounting to Rs 9.72 lakh. This apart, the complainant has also been entitled to Rs 2 lakh compensation for other impediments, the commission said.

The complainant has paid the entire sale consideration amount and MUDA got the site registered to his name in May 2007 and made the khata in June the same year. Since then, the complainant has been paying annual taxes from 2007-08 till 2019-20.

When he visited the site, he was shocked to see that one BP Chittiyappa had constructed a house on his site. Chittiyappa acquired the site in a re-auction by MUDA in November 2016.

IISc researchers find potential delivery system that cuts cost of medicine

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

RESEARCHERS at the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) have figured out an alternative way for drug delivery to a human body.

The researchers, headed by Dr Mrinmoy De, associate professor at the IISc's Department of Organic Chemistry, discovered an alternative way to deliver drugs to a human body, that can help in lowering the cost of medicine and can be used through a number of different delivery systems, including powder, pills, ointments, patches and intravenous injections.

Speaking to TNIE, Dr De said that the alternative material, two-dimensional molybdenum disulphide (2D-MoS2) nanosheets, can replace the currently widely-used material in drug delivery. "The most popular material used for drug delivery in modern medicine is gold nano-particles. The preparation of the gold nanoparticle and the material itself -- both are very expensive. Compared to this, what we are using is basically recycled industrial waste. It's incredibly bio-compatible, non-toxic and benign, so it can replace the popular gold nano-particle as a drug delivery material. It's a much more cheaper and convenient alternative," said Dr De.

Looking at medicine at the nano level, drug molecules are attached, or 'loaded' to a drug delivery system, in this case, 2D-MoS2. After medicine is ingested, the 2D-MoS2 sets about delivering the drug molecules to the designated part of the body that will be affected by the medicine. "This is one of our recent findings, wherein, if you use the 2D-MoS2, we can load drug molecules onto its surface and, upon reaching its destination, depending on the destination's environment, the molecules will be released," he said.

While 2D-MoS2 has the potential to replace gold nanopar-ticles as a cheaper alternative, Dr De said that the material is still unexplored. "It's not so much about downsides, however, we have not been able to explore the material so far. After the delivery, we need to think about the fate of the material in the body, after it has served its purpose. Studies on 'clearance' or how the material will exit the body, is currently what we are working on. The main concern is that it should not accumulate in the body over time," he said, however, adding that upon further studies, the material could help reduce the cost of medicine by cutting down on the cost of raw materials.

Tribunal nod needed to dismiss workman: Court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court held that a workman cannot be dismissed without taking approval of the Industrial Tribunal when proceedings between the workman and employer are pending.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order while dismissing the petition filed by Mulberry Silks Limited, questioning the order dated August 27, 2009, passed by the Labour Court which allowed the application filed by NG Chowdappa against dismissing him from service after being found guilty of misconduct.

"It is clear that whenever there is an industrial dispute pending either between the employer and workman or between the employer and union, necessary permission under Section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act would be required to be obtained by the employer in the event of the employer wanting to vary the terms or service. Dismissal would definitely be covered under the scope and ambit of "varying the terms of service". Thus, without obtaining permission of the court seized of the industrial dispute by filing a necessary application under Section 33 (2)(b), the employer cannot dismiss the workman from service," the court observed.

The court noted that the embargo imposed in terms of Section 33(2) would be applicable to the present case. The dismissal of the respondent, Chowdappa, without obtaining permission from the Tribunal when the dispute was pending, is a clear violation of Sub-Section (2) of Section 33 of the Act, and hence the order of dismissal is to be treated non-est and never to have been passed.

'Large allocations bring more corruption'

EXPERTS pointed out that the budget estimates have been prepared without undertaking any community participation index of the city, to know how much budget was required and for which sector. They said this is essential when the city is growing, besides making such large allocations for the city only brings in more corruption, wherein the officials are forced to spend money to maintain proper balance sheets.

Former councillors also said the welfare funds allocated last year were also not used so far.

A senior BBMP official, on condition of anonymity, told The New Indian Express: "We have incorporated all the suggestions given by citizens and experts which is the reason why the budget amount has escalated. Bengaluru also needs a large amount as it is rapidly growing and needs improvement. Now the estimates will be sent to the government for approval, which will be revised, just like it was done last year."

Camps for hearing impaired today

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE state government is planning to hold screening camps for the hearing impaired in all districts on 'World Hearing Day' which falls on March 3 every year, Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar said. He said steps are being taken to train healthcare professionals in ear care, first aid and screening of patients.

In children under six years of age who are suffering from serious hearing defects, surgeries like cochlear implant will be performed, if required. The minister explained that arrangements will be made to provide hearing aids through the Department of Empowerment of the Differently Abled and other organisations.

As many as 115 children have been operated upon in 2022 under the Cochlear Implant Scheme (CIM) and 577 identified beneficiaries are at various stages of preparation for cochlear surgery, Sudhakar said.

The minister added that in a span of of five years, 2,00,305 hearing impaired and 35,418 severely hearing impaired have been identified through the National Hearing Loss Control and Prevention Programme (NHLCPP).

Exposure to loud noise, infections in pregnant women, premature birth, consanguineous marriages, insertion of sharp objects in the years are some of the reasons which can cause hearing loss.

NOVEL CONCEPT

Kerala's first ash cemetery comes up at Kannur church

ANU KURUVILLA @Kochi

CIRCUMSTANCES have the power to initiate changes that otherwise would have been deemed impossible. Something on these lines is happening in the Christian community, too. When Covid restrictions made traditional burials impossible, many denominations within the community permitted the cremation of the bodies of the departed. The move was generally lauded as timely, what with space constraints hampering the expansion of burial grounds. Now, a church in Kannur has taken the concept further -- to the point of mainstreaming the concept – and introduced an ash cemetery on its premises. "The first person was interned in our ash cemetery last Friday," said Fr Thomas Kulangayi, vicar of the St Francis Assisi Catholic Church, in Melechovva, which comes under the Syro-Malabar Church's Archeparchy of Thalassery.

The first-of-its-kind in the state, the ash cemetery could even be the country's first for the Christian community. According to the vicar, the decision to set up the cemetery was taken after the civic body refused the church permission to construct a chamber tomb in the space earmarked for it.

The Ash Cemetery at St Francis Assisi Church at Melechovva in Kannur

"It was then decided, after getting the necessary permission from the diocesan head, to convert the space earmarked for the chamber tomb into one where the ashes of the departed can be interred," said Fr Kulangayi. The facility has 39 compartments set up in three rows. Such cemeteries are in vogue in western countries where cremation is not frowned upon by Christians. "The only specification for this type of interment is that all the funeral rites and rituals as prescribed by the Syro-Malabar Church need to be performed before and after the cremation of the mortal remains," the priest said.

Similar to the family tombs in a traditional cemetery, chambers will be allotted to families, Fr Thomas said. "The ashes of the departed are kept in the chamber in a wooden box and there is even provision for family members to light candles and pray. "The cemetery was constructed by the church and it will not entail any charges," he added.

PANEL FOR POLL BODY APPOINTMENTS A STEP IN RIGHT DIRECTION

It is only apt and timely that the election process in the world's most populous democracy is turned into an exercise above suspicion. The Supreme Court's order on appointing election commissioners is a commendable step in that direction. In a landmark order, a Constitution bench has directed that the president of India appoint the Chief Election Commissioner and two commissioners on the advice of a panel comprising the prime minister, the leader of opposition in the Lok Sabha (or the leader of the largest opposition party) and the Chief Justice of India. This arrangement should continue till Parliament passes legislation to this effect, ruled the five-judge bench. Currently, the election commissioners are appointed on the recommendation of the council of ministers alone.

By giving the opposition and CJI a say in appointments, the order aims to boost the impartiality and credibility of the top election body and protect it from unwanted political interference. The Election Commission of India has often been accused of bias, though its stated duty is to conduct elections fairly and transparently. The voices raising allegations of favouritism and arbitrariness against the Commission are only becoming shriller as the country moves towards the crucial Assembly elections in big states and the 2024 parliamentary polls. In this context, the court's comments, part of the verdict, about the huge surge in the role of money power in elections and the criminalisation of politics, assume significance. The court was pointing fingers, justifiably so, at the country's entire political system when it said parties might have a reason for not seeking a law for EC appointments. "A party in power will have an insatiable quest to remain in power through a servile commission," it said.

Given the nation's political atmosphere, the court's directions and comments should be taken in the spirit that they are delivered. It's not too much to expect the Election Commission to act fairly and legally and abide by the Constitution's provisions. Political parties must also seriously consider the court's suggestion that a law under Article 324 is an "unavoidable necessity". While the directions, if implemented, could help restore faith in the election body, the nation deserves a system that ensures the EC's true freedom from the influence of the executive. As the court said, democracy can succeed only if all stakeholders work towards maintaining the purity of the election process so as to truly reflect the will of the people.

FIND HUMANE SOLUTION THAN CULLING STRAYS

Kodagu-Mysuru BJP MP Pratap Simha last week kicked up a row with his insensitive proposal to cull stray dogs to keep people safe. He advised the media to turn a blind eye while a pack of human beings went after dogs with their superior intelligence and weapons, and did not even spare a senior leader in his party, known for her animal activism. As expected, this has raised the hackles of animal rights activists, who have threatened action against the MP. The emotive, contentious issue that Simha raised has supporters on either side, considering that children are particularly vulnerable. Parents of children attacked by dogs cannot be blamed for seeking to punish dogs, and it is well known that many strays are discreetly killed.

Over 1.58 lakh people in Karnataka were bitten by stray dogs last year, and nine rabies deaths were recorded. The number of attacks and deaths is increasing, with Ballari and Bengaluru at risk. Ballari has reported many hideous attacks and the death of at least four children in the past few months. At the crux of this issue is a growing population of strays, which are neither sterilised nor vaccinated. Other southern states are similarly affected, especially Kerala, with an estimated population of 2,80,000 strays, growing by about 20% yearly. With almost 2 lakh people suffering dog bites and 21 dying of rabies last year, Kerala sought the Supreme Court's permission to cull aggressive and rabid dogs. The court spoke out against the indiscriminate slaughter of strays, advising a humane approach and upholding dogs' right to life. In a slightly different approach, the Karnataka High Court held that local municipal authorities must safeguard human beings from stray dogs. Legally, as per IPC Section 429, punishment for killing, poisoning or maiming an animal could attract a fine or imprisonment of up to five years or both.

The failure of civic corporations tasked with managing dog populations has led to violent situations on the streets. Ballari City Corporation reportedly failed to renew the contract for sterilisation. Dogs attack due to hunger, heat and disease. Regular implementation of the Animal Birth Control programme should keep both their numbers and disease in check and is the only legal and ethical way to minimise conflict. Managing garbage, opening dog shelters, putting up strays for adoption and other humane solutions could ensure peaceful cohabitation.

MOTHER'S MILK BANK

Uttarakhand plans a mother's milk bank to tackle infant mortality. The bank accepts milk from lactating women, the processed and pasteurised milk given to premature or high-risk infants. Nearly a dozen banks already exist in India. The state government must also encourage mothers experiencing low milk production or undergoing treatment that conflicts with breastfeeding to approach the bank for supplementary feed. Besides serological testing on donors, microbiological testing and bacterial analysis of the milk is crucial. NGOs can be mobilised to campaign in the hill region for donors among new mothers who have lost their children or have excessive lactation.

Paradigm solutions will prioritise the export of millets, with a focus on traceability and promoting the 'fork to farm' rather than 'farm to fork' approach

MILLETS MAKING A COMEBACK ON GLOBAL STAGE

CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE

Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry

Millets, also known as 'Sri Anna', are making a resurgence in line with the International Year of Millets declared by the United Nations. These grains, some of the oldest in the world, are rich in protein, fiber, minerals, iron, calcium and have a low glycemic index. Their short growing season makes them ideal for multiple cropping systems, both under irrigation and dryland farming, and their long shelf life has earned them the status of famine reserves. Notably, the millet grain varieties are said to be intrinsic to future food security given the exigencies of climate change and the potential impact on high water-usage crops.

India is leading the charge as the world's top producer of millets, accounting for 20% of global production and 80% of Asia's output. Millets have been historically grown in the country across different varieties and remain in the comfort zone of farmers. In response to the declaration of the International Year of Millets, the Indian government has prioritised their promotion through the National Food Security Mission and several states are also running their own Millet Missions.

High-yielding varieties, including biofortified millets, have been introduced to increase production, and the government has recognised the health benefits of millets by including them in the POSHAN Mission and designating them as nutricereals.

The Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) and Indian Institute of Millets Research (IIMR) are promoting farmer producer organisations and startups to boost millet production as well as technology and value addition in the segment. Millet-focused food products are being provided support under the Production Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme to enhance value addition. The recent budget has designated IIMR as a Centre of Excellence for sharing millet-related best practices and technologies at the international level.

India's G20 presidency is a good opportunity for millets and millet-based foods to take centre stage. It will aid in becoming an international leader and be a progressive step to counter the critical global food challenges arising due to climate change.

The government and the industry are working together to make the International Year of Millets a people's movement and position India as the global hub for 'Sri Anna'. Many efforts are being made towards mainstreaming millets into the consumption basket by way of introducing healthier, millet-based value-added products.

SOUMYADIP SINHA

The Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) has made millets a key focus area and is implementing a comprehensive plan for awareness creation, market exploration, and capacity building.

To support the growth of millets, a three-pronged approach has been suggested.

Replicable solutions will focus on production, including the introduction of high-yielding varieties and technology demonstrations. At the same time, frontline technology demonstrations will be critical for technology deployment, and ICAR and IIMR will have critical roles to play here along with the industry.

Orchestrated solutions will involve the development of primary processing clusters at the farm gate and strengthened infrastructure as well as increased focus on crop diversification and consumer awareness. Policy measures in procurement will also be critical to promote a shift in cropping patterns towards millets.

On the consumer side, efforts in awareness creation regarding health and nutrition benefits need to be scaled. We must create awareness among all age groups to make way for millets on every plate. A lot of work is required to enhance the taste of millet-based products to suit the consumer palate. Also, barriers like the inconvenience related to preparation of millet-based products need to be done away with by introducing easy ready to cook/ready to eat recipes.

Paradigm solutions will prioritise the export of millets, with a focus on traceability and promoting the 'fork to farm' rather than the 'farm to fork' approach. Millet exports from India include mainly wholegrains, and the export of value-added products of millets is negligible. There is huge growth potential in the millets market. Therefore, sufficiently focusing on enhancing these exports will be important.

All these efforts offer a great solution to tackle the challenges posed by climate change in food production, costs, and food security. Millets, given their climate-resilient features including adaptation to a wide range of ecological conditions, less irrigational requirements, better growth and productivity in low-nutrient input conditions and minimum vulnerability to environmental stresses, offer an effective alternative to tackle climate change and for farmers to secure and enhance their incomes.

By encouraging the consumption and production of these underutilised crops, we can help millets regain market share and create additional opportunities for small-scale farmers.

Further, currently, millets account for less than 3% of the global grains trade. When sudden shocks affect the foodgrain market, millets can provide a valuable alternative to typically traded grains. This added diversity can improve the resilience of the global trade markets and mitigate our reliance on other grains. The genetic diversity of millets lends itself to varied and innovative applications of these grains in areas such as therapeutics and pharmaceuticals. Used innovatively, millets offer even greater market opportunities for regional and international trade.

With the potential for the millets market to grow from its current value of over $9 billion to over $12 billion by 2025, it is clear that millets are poised to become a staple in households worldwide. As the world faces critical food challenges due to climate change, it is time to rediscover this ancient grain and its many benefits.

JAPAN'S NEW DEFENCE STRATEGY AND THE MOVE AWAY FROM PACIFISM

DR NISHTHA KAUSHIKI

Associate Professor, Central University of Punjab, Bathinda

Adopting Article 9 of the Japanese Constitution and later the 'Three Non-Nuclear Principles' (hikaku sangensoku) as the former prime minister Eisaku Sato announced in 1967, helped pacifist values deeply embed in the psychology of the society. The country embracing the policy of a peaceful state (heiwa kokka) led to the assumption that Tokyo would never face a war threat, let alone war itself. Given that Beijing's military advancements in conventional, nuclear and Directed Energy Weapons (DEW) are supplemented with aggressive diplomatic posturing, Japan increasingly realises that the 1967 principles are not laws and fall within the larger umbrella of policies, which can be altered to varying degrees.

In this direction, in December 2022, a visionary National Security Strategy (NSS) naming China as the "greatest strategic challenge" was unveiled. The 36-page document is novel in many ways. The NSS also is a torch bearer of the National Defense Strategy and the Defense Buildup Program.

First, it mentioned the development of "counter-strike capabilities" to "pre-empt" any attacks on Japanese soil. The document has stated that the missile attacks have become a "palpable threat" and that Tokyo will make "steadfast efforts to both qualitatively and quantitatively enhance its missile defence capabilities". Further, the NSS outlines that "if Japan continues to rely solely upon ballistic missile defences, it will become increasingly difficult to fully address missile threats with the existing missile defence network alone".

Thus, there are strong indications that the current interceptor-reliant missile defence system is outdated in protecting the core interests of Japan. Until now, Tokyo had maintained self-restraint on the issue, but owing to Putin's nuclear threat and blackmailing a non-nuclear Ukraine, the initiative is well understood and also appreciated by the Japanese people. In this light, Prof. Yoichi Shimada, the advisor to late PM Shinzo Abe, had warned that a possible aggressor could replicate such tactics and Tokyo's adversaries might resort to "political intimidation". Such aggressors could be China or North Korea. A public debate on the development of new weapons is therefore rapidly gaining pace.

Second, the doctrine of "Flexible Deterrent Options (FDO) utilising Self Defense Forces (SDF) assets in the form of cross-governmental coordination" has also been incorporated into the NSS. It is meant to ensure safety in cases of asymmetric escalation. FDO was adopted by NATO, which advocated an arsenal of tactical nuclear weapons and permitted a credible response, thereby ensuring a Warfighting Equilibrium (WE). If the aggressor launches attacks, the WE requires the defender to respond flexibly by retaliating in equivalent measures or escalating to ensure a win. Thus, given the individual and the combined nuclear capabilities of China, North Korea and Russia, such posturing would make it essential for Japan to come out of its 1967 commitment of not possessing, using or hosting nuclear weapons or tactical weapons. Perhaps the "cross-governmental coordination" mentioned in the strategy might guide Japan in the coming months or years to initiate Japan into hosting such weapons.

AFP

The country embracing the policy of a peaceful state (heiwa kokka) led to the assumption that Tokyo would never face a war threat, let alone war itself

Third, "promoting transfer of defence equipment and technology" also finds ample space in the comprehensive document. Tokyo aims to enhance its defence capabilities by coordinating with its allies and like-minded countries. Further, by FY 2027, a defence budget hike of 2% has been outlined, making it similar to the NATO standards. Japan's Research and Development (R&D) will focus on the new and emerging areas of "cyber, maritime, space, and electromagnetic domains" with a view to coordinate with US, its traditional ally, and like-minded countries. It implies that Japan will open itself to deeper civil-military integration by developing technologies that are for dual purposes. It will also look at like-minded countries such as India to strengthen the freedoms of the Indo-Pacific region.

Finally, the above three points lead to a "multi-layered way by cross-domain operational capabilities" that has been meaningfully incorporated into the NSS doctrine. It has aimed to focus on an integrated platform similar to a theatre defence system in which the principles of active defence are essential. An "active cyber defence" mandates developing and possessing offensive cyber capabilities directly linked to pre-emption. Thus, the doctrine has laid the groundwork for future directions in policy shifts and is an appreciable attempt towards comprehensive security. However, it warrants that Japan has to modify its mindset slightly. A hesitancy to do so is also reflected in the documents that suggest that first, the strategy is "exclusively defence-oriented" and second, pre-emption remains "impermissible".

The narratives that Japanese people today discuss and debate will bring transformative changes in the coming future. Various experts suggest that if Japan changes its 1967 posturing, it will directly affect North East Asia's security and snowball into an arms race in the region. Nevertheless, Japan would be coerced to adopt significant changes, given the evolving security environment of Asia. It might probably be left with no choice except to agree to host the tactical weapons of the US, apart from going ahead to achieve strategic and tactical independence.

There is a lot of scope for Indo-Japan defence technological cooperation, such as joint R&D between the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) and Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency (JAXA), apart from the interagency cooperation to increase interoperability between the defence platforms of the two countries. Developing joint cyberoffensive programmes is another important area of cooperation, as the same adversary has targeted critical civilian infrastructure.

The recent 'Veer Guardian' joint air defence exercises send an important message to China to scale down its aggressiveness and hence are much more than "symbolic" in nature. In the coming few months, India should be ready to welcome the changes in Japanese foreign and security policy to ensure regional peace.

Failure of global governance, says PM

- The UN seldom reflects today's politics, economics, demographies and aspirations, he says
- Urges foreign ministers to draw inspiration from India's civilisational ethos, amplify voice of Global South

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE G20 Foreign Ministers' meet should signal the need for unity of purpose and unity of action, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Thursday.

PM Modi said that the past few years reflected the failure of global governance which was meant to prevent wars and foster international cooperation after the end of the Second World War.

"The architecture of global governance created after the Second World War was to serve two functions. First, to prevent wars by balancing competing interests, and second, to foster international cooperation on issues of common interests. The global governance has failed in both mandates as there is financial crisis, climate change, terrorism and wars," he said in his speech at the event in Delhi on Thursday.

"I hope the meeting will reflect this spirit of togetherness, for achieving common and concrete objectives," he said, adding that the voice of the Global South needs to be heard.

"No group can claim global leadership without listening to those most affected by its decisions. As you meet in the land of Gandhi and Buddha, I pray you draw inspiration from India's civilisational ethos – to focus not on what divides us but what unites us," he said.

External Affairs Minister Dr S Jaishankar began the meet by observing a minute of silence for those who lost their lives in Turkey and Syria in the recent earthquake.

"Let us remind ourselves that this grouping bears an exceptional responsibility. We may not be of one mind; in fact there are some matters of sharp differences, yet we must find common ground and provide direction, because that is what the world expects of us," he said, adding that the future of multilateralism depends on our ability to strengthen it in a changing world.

The EAM also said that though the number of members of the United Nations has quadrupled, it neither reflects today's politics, nor economics, demographies and aspirations. He also spoke about reforms in the UN. "The agenda for the meet includes challenges of food, fertiliser and fuel security," Dr Jaishankar said.

India has taken development projects in 78 countries and has encouraged exchanges and capacity building.

"We must ensure demand driven and sustainable development cooperation based on country ownership and transparency; respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity," Dr Jaishankar said.

India, Italy now strategic partners, says Modi

India and Italy have elevated their relationship to strategic partners, PM Narendra Modi announced on Thursday after meeting Italian PM Giorgia Meloni in Delhi. "Our discussions were very useful and very meaningful. This year India and Italy are celebrating the 75th anniversary of bilateral relations. And on this occasion, we have decided that we would give the status of Strategic Partnership to India-Italy partnership," said PM Modi.

Emphasis was given on increasing cooperation in areas like renewable energy, green Hydrogen, IT, semiconductors, telecom and space. The two nations also announced the establishment of a 'Startup Bridge' between India and Italy.

The bilateral trade between the two nations has touched $15 billion and expectations of this increasing are high. A letter of intent for migration and mobility has also been signed. "PM Modi is the most loved one of all (leaders). This is really proven that he has been a major leader and congratulations for that," said Meloni.

The two nations are also considering co-production and co-development in India's defence manufacturing sector.

"We have also decided to organise regular joint exercises and training courses between the armed forces of both countries. India and Italy are walking shoulder to shoulder in the fight against terrorism and separatism. We discussed in detail on how to further strengthen cooperation," Modi said.

The leaders expressed concern over the ongoing Ukraine-Russia conflict. "We are also giving priority to this subject during India's G20 presidency. From the very beginning of the Ukraine conflict, India has made it clear that this dispute can only be resolved through dialogue and diplomacy. We also welcome Italy's active participation," Modi said.

SC forms panel to pick CEC and ECs

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday formed a panel comprising the prime minister, leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha or leader of the largest opposition party in the House and the Chief Justice of India to appoint the Chief Election Commissioner and the Election Commissioners.

A five-judge bench comprising Justices K M Joseph, Ajay Rastogi, Aniruddha Bose, Hrishikesh Roy and C T Ravikumar said the panel will be in force till Parliament enacts a law on the appointments.

Observing that the "ballot, is more potent than the most powerful gun", the bench said the "purity of election must be maintained or else it would lead to disastrous consequences" in a democracy.

So, the Election Commission needs to be independent and fully insulated from any external or internal disrupting environment, it said.

The 289-page ruling authored by Justice Jospeh noted that the scene in the country today is not what it was in the years immediately after the country became a Republic.

"Criminalisation of politics, a huge surge in the influence of money power, the role of certain sections of the media where they appear to have forgotten their invaluable role and have turned unashamedly partisan, call for the unavoidable and unpostponable filling up of the vacuum," the ruling said.

"The impact of big money and its power to influence elections, the influence of certain sections of media, makes it also absolutely imperative that the appointment of the Election Commission, which has been declared by this court to be the guardian of the citizenry and its fundamental rights, becomes a matter, which cannot be postponed further," it said.

Justice Ajay Rastogi, in his separate, but concurring 89-page ruling said decisions taken by the Election Commission need to win the trust of the people. He warned that if the Election Commission starts making decisions arbitrarily, it could lead people to think that the democratic process in in the country is being corrupted.

Justice M R Shah not to recuse from Sanjiv Bhatt plea

SC judge Justice MR Shah has said that he would not recuse from hearing a plea filed by former Gujarat police officer Sanjiv Bhatt. The former IPS officer had sought permission for producing an additional evidence before the Gujarat HC in his appeal against conviction in a custodial death case. In his plea, Bhatt had asked for recusal of Justice Shah, saying that he had been part of the Bench that heard the matters pertaining to him, which arose from the FIR on the basis of which he was convicted.

HCs told not to quash FIRs in graft cases during probe

SC has recently opined that it is desirable that HCs do not quash corruption cases' FIRs at investigation stage, even if it is suspected that the case has been registered by a new government against officers of the previous government. A Bench of Justices S Ravindra Bhat and Dipankar Datta observed that if the accused are allowed to go scot-free only on the ground that the action has been taken by the current regime in a malafide manner to "settle scores", criminal justice system will become a casualty.

Appoint disabled lawyer as Guj HC judge, says SC collegium

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

WITH a view to bring greater inclusion for persons with disabilities, SC collegium on Thursday recommended the elevation of disabled Advocate Moxa Kiran Thakker as judge of Gujarat High Court. The three member collegium said that appointment of Thakker, a person with a disability, would bring greater inclusion.

The collegium also recommended the elevation of a trial court lawyerDevan Desai as judge of Gujarat HC. Desai's name has been recommended by noting that his 52 years of experience as a trial court lawyer "would be an asset particularly in dealing with civil and commercial work in the High Court of Gujarat".

In a separate resolution, the collegium recommended the elevation of Scheduled Tribe lawyer Kardak Ete for appointment as a judge of the Gauhati High Court. "The candidate belongs to a Scheduled Tribe. Besides his own competence and standing at the Bar, the appointment of Kardak Ete will bring greater diversity and inclusion to the High Court", it noted.

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

IN a step to bolster military ties, a team from the Australian Defence Forces has commenced a visit to India from since March 1 under the inaugural 'General Rawat India-Australia Young Defence Officers Exchange Programme'.

The 15-member Australian contingent, which includes four female officers, are from the Royal Australian Navy, Australian Army and Royal Australian Air Force.

"In 2022, in recognition of the contributions of India's first Chief of Defence Staff, General Bipin Rawat, and the importance of deepening our defence relationship, the Australian and Indian governments announced an Australia-India Young Defence Officers' Exchange Programme named in his honour," the Australian High Commissioner said.

Australian officers, during the programme, will be hosted by fifteen officers from the Indian Armed Forces of similar rank, and will visit Indian defence establishments across four cities. The programme will include visits to the Air Force Academy, College of Defence Management, DRDO, and naval facilities in Goa.

The programme provides a valuable opportunity for the Australian officers to observe the training and practices of India's military and foster greater understanding and cooperation.

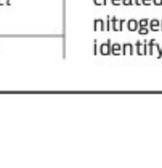
'Pay heed to century's new concerns'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

URGING for a new way of thinking to promote a democratic environment globally, former Congress president Rahul Gandhi, during his lecture at Cambridge University said on Thursday that the world needs to find a way of listening compassionately to new concerns in the 21st century.



Delivering a lecture at the University's Judge Business School on the theme of 'Learning to Listen in the 21st Century', Gandhi said that the decline in recent decades of manufacturing in democratic countries including India and the US, as production has shifted to China, has produced mass inequality and associated anger.

"We simply cannot afford a planet that doesn't produce under democratic systems," he told the MBA students. "So we need new thinking about how you produce in a democratic environment compared to a coercive environment and a negotiation about this," he said.

"The art of listening" when done consistently and diligently is "very powerful,", he said.

Gandhi, who is on a week-long visit to the UK, will interact with representatives of the Indian Overseas Congress (IOC) and also address an 'Indian Diaspora Conference'.

ELECTRODES TO TREAT DISEASE

Researchers at Linkoping, Lund, and Gothenburg universities in Sweden have grown electrodes in living tissue using body molecules as triggers. The result paves the way for formation of electronic circuits in living organisms with a potential to understand complex biological functions, combat diseases in the brain, and develop future interfaces between man and machine. Researchers have developed a method for creating soft, substrate-free, electronically conductive materials in tissues. By injecting a gel containing enzymes as the "assembly molecules", the researchers were able to grow electrodes in the tissue of zebrafish and medicinal leeches.

BIODEGRADABLE HEALTH SENSOR THAT CAN BE EDIBLE TOO

Scientists have used seaweed, rock salt, water and graphene to develop a hydrogel that can function as a health sensor & can be applied as a second skin

Scientists from the University of Sussex in the UK have developed a biodegradable sensor that is being perceived as paving the way for edible health monitoring sensors, an emerging field of research to make on-the-go health surveillance easier, quicker, more efficient as well as environment-friendly. They have used seaweed, rock salt, water and graphene to develop an electrically conductive hydrogel that can function as a health sensor and can be applied as a second skin and also can be consumed as all the ingredients are biodegradable and in their natural form. The researchers found that these new seaweed-based sensors outperformed existing synthetic-based hydrogels and nanomaterials that are already in use as wearable health monitors. The biodegradable health sensor is expected to improve upon patients' experience with the currently used sensors, that too without the commonly used invasive hospital instruments and wires.

NEW WAY TO FIND PURE HELIUM WITHOUT CARBON EMISSION

A new study by researchers from University of Oxford, University of Toronto and Durham University have found a new method to identify hidden helium gas fields at a time when the world is facing a global shortage of helium, estimated to be a $6 billion market as it is needed in computer chips, MRI scanners, fibre optic manufacture, and nuclear and cryogenic applications. Conventionally producing helium emits carbon, contributing to climate change. Finding pure helium can do away with that. The new method through a model delves into why helium accumulates naturally in high concentrations just beneath the Earth's surface.

UNIVERSITY OF OTTAWA; AEL AMS LABORATORY

The team built a model factoring in the release of nitrogen along with helium from boiling water deep under the earth's crust under the Williston Basin in North America. Helium, being much lighter, escapes through bubbles but gets trapped in the water under the surface of the earth, blocked by rocks. Over millions of years, helium gas fields are created due to this process. The model predicted the observed nitrogen/helium proportions in real life, which can be used to help identify areas likely to contain similar helium-rich deposits elsewhere.

BJP focused on consolidation of Bengali votes

Pro-poor initiatives and hike in DA for govt staff helped the party retain power in Tripura

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE BJP in alliance with IPFT trounce the Left-Congress combine to retain power in Tripura. In the 60-member assembly, the BJP won 32 seats the Tipra Motha bagged 13 seats, while the Left-Congress alliance secured 14. The BJP, however, fell short of the 35 seats it had bagged in 2018. The Indigenous People's Front of Tripura (IPFT) won only one seat.

The Communist Party of India (Marxist) contested in 47 seats but won only 11, while its partner Congress got three seats. Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union home minister Amit Shah made all the right noises, while Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma, the "Chanakya of Northeast", kept his ears to the ground. Shah had left it to the electorate to decide if they would like to swim alongside Congress-Left combine or BJP.

How Sarma strategised

The Assam CM had allayed the fear of Bengalis by rejecting Tipra Motha's 'Greater Tipraland' demand. This is believed to have consolidated Bengali votes in BJP's favour Tipra Motha put up a good performance winning 13 seats. Tripura's nearly 70% voters are Bengalis. On the rise of TIPRA Motha in tribal areas, a more nuanced messaging was resorted to by the BJP so that the dominant Bengali votes are consolidated. The Assam CM had allayed the fear of Bengalis by rejecting TIPRA Motha's 'Greater Tipraland' statehood demand. This is believed to have led to consolidation of Bengali votes in BJP's favour.

Some other factors, which seemed to have worked for BJP, are its pro-poor initiatives. Over the past five years, over 1.6 lakh poor families got PMAY houses. Also, their monthly social allowance was increased from ₹700 to ₹1,000 soon after BJP captured power in 2018 and then, it was further increased to ₹2,000 in September last year. The government kept its employees in a good humour by announcing 12% hike in dearness allowance in December last year. It maintained law and order well.

I thank the people of Nagaland from the bottom of my heart for choosing peace and progress by re-electing the PM Modi-led NDA back in power.

Amit Shah, Union Home Minster

Congress would soon assess the assembly poll results and take corrective measures to strengthen the organisation.

Jairam Ramesh, MP, INC

I humbly thank the electorate of Meghalaya for giving us so much love & recognising our efforts. Congratulations to the 5 elected AITC MLAs.

Abhishek Banerjee, MP AITC

We are the 2nd largest party. So, we will sit in the constructive opposition but will not sit with CPM or Congress. We can sit independently. We'll help the govt

Pradyot Debbarma, TIPRA Motha chief

NDPP wins 25 constituencies while ally BJP 12 seats in 60-member Nagaland Assembly

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE NDPP-BJP alliance romped home in Nagaland, bagging 37 seats in the 60-member assembly. Repeating the winning formula of 40:20 to retain power the second term in a row, the Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP) won 25 seats, while BJP emerged victorious in 12 constituencies. The alliance had the same formula in 2018 elections too.

The NCP and the National People's Party (NPP) got seven and five seats, respectively, while The Congress failed to win any seat. While the NDPP secured a vote share of 32.22 per cent, BJP's share was 18.81 per cent.

"Congratulations to all the winning candidates of the Nagaland Assembly Elections 2023. As we have assured the electorates, let us pursue with sincerity to fulfil our goals and vision. May God Almighty help us," NDPP leader and Chief Minister Neiphiu Rio said in a Twitter post.

Opposition is disintegrated

The victory of BJP-NDPP combine returning to power was a forgone conclusion as there was no opposition worth its name. NPF got disintegrated last year when 21 MLAs defected to NDPP

BJP president JP Nadda said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visionary leadership and Rio's governance will ensure peace while reaching new heights of progress in the state once more, he said.

In Nagaland, the BJP's worry was more about handling ally Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP) because there is no opposition worth its name. That BJP-NDPP combine would return to power was a forgone conclusion. The Naga People's Front (NPF), which ruled the state from 2003-18, got disintegrated last year when 21 of its 26 MLAs defected to NDPP.

Similarly, the Congress, which was a formidable force under former Chief Minister SC Jamir, got reduced to a shadow of its glorious past two decades ago. The Congress and the NPF virtually conceded defeat even before the polls by contesting only 23 and 22 seats, respectively.

NPP bags 26 seats, seven more than its 2018 tally; BJP repeats 2018 show of 2 victories

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

IN fast-paced developments on the day of elections results, BJP in the late evening gave a letter of support to NPP to form the new government in Meghalaya. This followed Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma saying that BJP national president JP Nadda has advised the state unit in Meghalaya to support the NPP.

Earlier in the day, when it became clear that the elections have thrown in a hung assembly in the state, Conrad K Sangma of National People's Party (NPP) lost no time to establish fresh relations with BJP. He dialed Union home minister Amit Shah to secure support for the new government.

Coalition govt in the offing

The two parties, which together have 28 seats, will need the support of at least three MLAs of other parties to be able to form a coalition government in the 60-member House

Considering that 59 of the 60 seats went to polls, the NPP-BJP combine will need the support of 30 MLAs for the moment to form a coalition government. The two parties together have 28 seats, two less than the majority mark of 30. The majority mark will become 31 if any other party wins the by-election to one seat which did not go to polls after the death of the NPP candidate.

The NPP bagged 26 seats, seven more than its 2018 tally of 19, while the BJP repeated its 2018 performance by winning two seats. The two parties will now need the support of at least three MLAs of other parties to form a coalition government in the 60-member House.

They have the options of going to Hills State People's Democratic Party (HSPDP), United Democratic Party (UDP) and Voice of the People Party (VPP). While the HSPDP has won two seats, UDP has 11 in its kitty. VPP, a newly-floated party, bagged four seats. The HSPDP and UDP are a part of NPP-led ruling Meghalaya Democratic Alliance. Sangma thanked the people of the state for having reposed their faith in the NPP. "As we are short of the majority mark, we will discuss and decide how to go forward," he said.

MEET FIRST WOMEN MLAS FROM NAGALAND

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

Jakhalu, a US-educated lawyer, defeated Azheto Zhimomi of Lok Janshakti Party (Ram Vilas) by 1,536 votes at Dimapur III seat.

Modi takes on Cong-Left, says minorities trust BJP

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

EMBOLDENED by the Assembly results in Tripura, Nagaland and Meghalaya elections declared on Thursday in the BJP's favour, Prime Minister Narendra Modi predicted the formation of a BJP-alliance government in the coming days in the Left-ruled Kerala also on the same pattern.

Taking a jibe at the Left-Congress alliance which contested the polls in Tripura, the PM said that these parties are 'plundering' Kerala. "I am confident that in coming days, the BJP-alliance will form the government in Kerala the way we are forming the government in Tripura, Meghalaya and Nagaland," the PM remarked.

Making a frontal attack on the Congress, PM Modi said, "After today's results from Tripura, Nagaland and Meghalaya, the Congress Party has once again made its 'hatred' towards the smaller states public. They are saying that these small states and their results do not matter much". He termed the Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge's statement on the poll results as an 'insult' to the people.

Modi credited the BJP's consistent victory in elections to a 'triveni' of the work done by its governments, their work culture and the dedication of party workers.

He said that Northeast states remained neglected for the last 70 years but now the BJP, working on its mantra called 'HIRA' (Highway, Internet, Rail and Airport) like connectivity, has brought the Northeast states in the mainstream.

He said that now the fear which was created by the Opposition amongst the minorities against the BJP is also vanishing and getting exposed.

"The minority in Goa and Nagaland supported the BJP; they will continue supporting the BJP in other states also. They've realised how they were misled by some parties against the BJP earlier," he said.

Results unlikely to impact '24: Kharge

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AFTER its dismal performance in three North Eastern states, Tripura, Nagaland and Meghalaya, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge on Thursday said that the results are not likely to reflect on the 2024 General elections as usually northeast parties go with the parties in power at the Centre.

The Congress Chief, however added that many leaders in Northeast are committed to national level politics.

While terming the election results of the assembly polls to three North Eastern states as disappointing, AICC General Secretary Jairam Ramesh said that the victory in three bypoll is encouraging, "INC wins Kasba Peth in Maharashtra after 33 years, INC wins Sagardighi seat in West Bengal after 51 years, INC up from 0 seats to 5 in Tripura, 5 seats in Meghalaya (Despite hijacking of 21 sitting MLAs), Tamil Nadu By-Election INC, " said Ramesh in a tweet. Referring to the bypoll win in West Bengal, Congress general secretary K C Venugopal said in a tweet, "The message is clear - no battle is difficult if fought with all our might. This is a watershed moment for INC's re-emergence."

The CPI (M) which was in a pre-poll alliance with the Congress in Tripura, however, said that the BJP achieved the majority after spending unprecedented amounts of money and other malpractices. Out of 60 seats, the Left-Congress alliance bagged 14 seats.

HALT IN TRAIN SERVICES AMID STRIKE IN GREECE

LARISSA

ANGER mounted in Greece on Thursday over a deadly train collision that killed at least 57 people, with protests and a national strike as authorities admitted failures overseeing the rail network.

About 700 demonstrators massed outside the Athens headquarters of Greek rail operator Hellenic Train to voice outrage and sorrow.

The crowd held a moment of silence to honour victims who died in the wreckage near Larissa in central Greece, where a freight and passenger train collided head on Tuesday. "We are angry towards the company, towards the government and past governments that did nothing to improve conditions in the Greek railway," said Stavros Nantis, a pensioner, at the protest.

Striking rail workers paralysed Greece's train services on Thursday in protest at government management of the network, saying it contributed to the fatal collision.

Announcing the 24-hour shutdown, the rail union federation denounced a "lack of respect towards Greece's rail network by successive governments over the years, which led to this tragic result".

Government spokesman Yiannis Economou said an inquiry would examine the "chronic delays in implementing railway works, delays caused by chronic public-sector malaise and decades of failure."

Authorities have pointed to "human error" in explaining the collision in which two carriages were demolished and a restaurant car caught fire, trapping many victims inside. "I believe the responsibility, the negligence, the error has been confessed by the station master," Economou said.

The manager "acknowledges what he has done," his lawyer confirmed.

Angry demonstrators had rallied outside the Athens office of Hellenic Train on Wednesday evening, as police used tear gas to disperse protesters who threw rocks at the building.

US President Joe Biden offered his condolences on Thursday for the "tragic train accident", adding that "We wish those injured a quick and full recovery."

Meanwhile, Family members lined up to give DNA samples in hopes of identifying victims of the train crash. Agencies

TRADE RULES

Johnson says difficult to vote for new Brexit deal

LONDON

FORMER UK PM Boris Johnson said on Thursday he would find it "very difficult" to vote for successor Rishi Sunak's new European Union deal overhauling post-Brexit trade rules in Northern Ireland.

Johnson broke his silence after the breakthrough deal was announced on Monday.

"I'm going to find it very difficult to vote for something like this myself, because I believed we should've done something very different," Johnson said in a speech in London.

"This is not about the UK taking back control," he said, but "a version of the solution that was being offered (by the EU) last year."

"This is the EU graciously unbending to allow us to do what we want to do in our own country, not by our laws, but by theirs," he added.

As prime minister, Johnson rammed through the old "Northern Ireland Protocol" in his rush to withdraw Britain from the EU.

He admitted that the set of trading rules, now supplanted by Sunak's deal, had proved problematic.

But he insisted that the better route was to maintain now-abandoned legislation that he introduced, imposing a unilateral overhaul of the rules without EU consent, even at the risk of a trade war. "I have no doubt at all that that (legislation) is what brought the EU to negotiate seriously," he claimed.

The new Windsor Framework has been generally well received and is expected to win any vote in parliament with the support of the Labour party.

The framework reduces the influence of EU law in Northern Ireland, and creates a new "green lane" for goods coming from Britain that are not intended to go on to the EU's single market via Ireland.

Johnson said it risked keeping Northern Ireland in the EU's regulatory orbit and would prove "a drag anchor on divergence" from EU rules for the UK as a whole. AFP

Kyiv denies sending saboteurs; allegations came as US urged Kremlin to end conflict

MOSCOW

MOSCOW on Thursday claimed that Ukrainians crossed into southern Russia and killed two civilians, an allegation denied by Kyiv as a "deliberate provocation."

Russia says its regions bordering Ukraine are routinely shelled by Ukrainian forces, but the alleged incursion, if confirmed, would be a rare instance of fighting inside its territory.

Russia's FSB security service said in a statement on Thursday that the "Ukrainian nationalists" had later been pushed back over the border and targeted with a "massive artillery strike."

The allegations came as the conflict spilled into the G20 meeting of foreign ministers, with US Secretary of State Antony Blinken saying he had urged Russia's top diplomat Sergei Lavrov to end military campaign in Ukraine.

Russian President Vladimir Putin blamed Ukrainian "terrorists" for an incursion, claiming that they deliberately targeted civilians, including children in "yet another terror attack, another crime."

"They infiltrated the area near the border and opened fire on civilians," Putin said during a video call. "They saw a civilian vehicle with civilians, with children in it, and they fired on them."

Putin blamed the attack on "neo-Nazis" and said it confirmed that Russia did the right thing by invading Ukraine. "I repeat again: They will not succeed, and we will finish pushing them out," Russian President said.

However, Ukrainian presidential advisor Mykhaylo Podolyak quickly dismissed Moscow's claims. "The story about (a) sabotage group in Russia is a classic deliberate provocation," he said. "Russia wants to scare its people to justify the attack on another country and the growing poverty after the year of war."

The FSB said that the incident happened in the Klimovsky district of the Bryansk region, which borders Ukraine, and that a "large number of explosives" had been found.

Meanwhile, Ukraine ordered the mandatory evacuation of vulnerable residents from Kupiansk and northeastern territories. Agencies

German leader warns China against arming Russia

BERLIN

GERMAN Chancellor Olaf Scholz on Thursday called on China to refrain from sending weapons to Russia and instead use its influence to press Moscow for the withdrawal of Russian troops from Ukraine.

"My message to Beijing is clear: Use your influence in Moscow to press for the withdrawal of Russian troops, and do not supply weapons to the aggressor Russia," Scholz said.

The chancellor also vowed that Germany would continue to support Ukraine with humanitarian and military aid to help the country defend itself against Russia's invasion.

Addressing those who are demanding that Ukraine start negotiating a truce with Russia to end the war, he said that "love of peace does not mean submission to a bigger neighbour. If Ukraine stopped defending itself, it would not be peace, but the end of Ukraine."

"Our European peace order is defensible," Scholz added.

"Our never again means that war of aggression will never return as a means of politics. Our never again means that Putin's imperialism will not prevail," he said.

"There is no negotiating with a gun at your temple, except for your own submission," he said.

Scholz also said that Germany is working on meeting NATO's 2% defence spending target. AFP

Ex-PM Imran slams govt, fires fresh salvo at Bajwa

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTANIS are paying a heavy price for the "conspiracy" of regime change, ousted PM Imran Khan said on Thursday as he once again tore into ex-Army chief Qamar Javed Bajwa for helping a "bunch of criminals" to come to power. Imran slammed the government for "slaughtering" the Pakistani rupee, saying it has increased public debt and led to high inflation. The Pakistani rupee sank sharply by Rs 18.74 against the dollar in the interbank market on Thursday. "Rupee slaughtered—lost over 62% or 110/$ in 11 months of PDM. This has increased public debt alone Rs 14.3 trn & historic 75 yr high inflation 31.5%," Imran tweeted. "Pakistanis paying heavy price of regime change conspiracy where a bunch of criminals have been foisted upon nation by ex COAS," Imran tweeted. Imran has been at loggerheads with Bajwa ever since his ouster from power in April by a no-confidence motion.

He has previously alleged that the former army chief wanted to have him murdered and impose a state of emergency in the country.

Meanwhile, Pakistan surrendered to another IMF demand when it imposed a surcharge of up to Rs 3.23 per unit on electricity consumers across the country with effect from July 1, according to a media report on Thursday.

The Dawn reported that consumers of Karachi-specific company K-Electric would be facing double jeopardy, as the government also gave the Karachi power utility the go-ahead to increase tariff by Rs 1.56 per unit in the current month and then another Rs 6.11 per unit in April and May, to ensure uniform electricity rates at par with other distribution companies in the country. PTI

UK seizes Iranian missiles near Yemen

DUBAI

THE British navy seized anti-tank missiles and fins for ballistic missile assemblies during a raid on a small boat heading from Iran likely to Yemen, authorities said on Thursday, the latest such seizure in the Gulf of Oman.

The seizure by the Royal Navy comes after other seizures by French and US forces in the region as Western powers increase their pressure on Iran, as it now enriches uranium closer than ever to weapons-grade levels. It also comes as regional and international powers try to find an end to the yearslong war gripping Yemen, the Arab world's poorest country, and as Iran arms Russia in its war on Ukraine. The raid took place on February 23 after an American aircraft detected a small boat heading from Iran, with a helicopter from the Royal Navy frigate HMS Lancaster giving chase to the vessel, the British Defense Ministry said.

The boat tried to re-enter Iranian territorial water, but was stopped before it could. Inside the boat, British troops found Russian 9M133 Kornet anti-tank guided missiles, known in Iran as 'Dehlavieh,' the US Navy's Mideast-based 5th Fleet and the British navy said. AFP

One-fourth of Germany's people have foreign origin

Berlin: Some 18.9 million people, or roughly 23% of Germany's population, either immigrated to the country since 1950 or are the children of immigrants, Germany's Federal Statistics Office said on Thursday. It's the first time the statistics office has analysed the country's population based on migration figures and not just on citizenship, which is a more vague concept since many immigrants and especially the children of immigrants have taken on German citizenship in recent years. When it comes to the 17.3% who are first-generation immigrants, Germany ranks above the European Union average of 10.6%, the German news agency dpa reported.

GQG buys stake worth ₹15,446 cr in Adani cos

This marks first major investment in Group companies since Hindenburg's scathing report triggered rout in stocks

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

GQG Partners, a US-based global equity investment boutique, on Thursday, in a series of secondary block trade transactions, bought shares worth ₹15,446 crore ($1.87 billion) in four Adani Group firms: Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone, Adani Green Energy, Adani Transmission and Adani Enterprises.

This marks the first major investment in the embattled Adani Group since the short-seller Hindenburg Research's scathing report triggered a stock rout. A total of about 21 crore shares changed hands between the four Adani-listed companies and GQG Partners. The promoters of the port-to-power conglomerate sold about 4.1% stake in Adani Ports, 3.5% in Adani Green Energy, 2.5% in Adani Transmission and 3.5% in Adani Enterprises. Jefferies India Private Limited introduced the parties and brokered the transaction.

"We value GQG's role as a strategic investor in our infrastructure and utility portfolio of sustainable energy, logistics and energy transition. This transaction marks the continued confidence of global investors in the governance, management practices and the growth of Adani portfolio of companies," said Jugeshinder (Robbie) Singh, Group CFO of Adani Group.

The deal is likely to bring some relief to billionaire Gautam Adani whose team reportedly is globetrotting to attract investors in a bid to instil confidence among investors.

The Group's 10 listed companies have lost more than ₹11 lakh crore in market value since January 24, when Hindenburg accused it of stock manipulation by offshore tax havens. The allegations have been denied by the Adani Group.

Rajiv Jain, Chairman and CIO of GQG Partners, said Adani firms own and operate some of the largest and most important infrastructure assets throughout India and around the world. "We believe the long-term growth prospects for these firms are substantial, and we are pleased to invest in firms that will help advance. India's economy and energy infrastructure, including their energy transition over long-run," added Jain. GQG, listed on the Australian Securities Exchange, manages more than $92 billion in client assets as of January 31, 2023, said a statement by Adani Group.

In flagship Adani Enterprises, GQG purchased shares worth ₹5,460 crore at ₹1,410.86 apiece. Equity in APSEZ was bought at ₹596.20 apiece for ₹5,282 crore. In Adani Transmission, the ₹1,898-crore purchase was concluded at ₹668.4 per share. In Adani Green, transaction was worth about ₹2,806 crore at ₹504.6 apiece. The transaction took place the day when Supreme Court formed a committee to investigate the allegations raised by Hindenburg.

Supreme Court panel: Adani says 'truth will prevail'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GAUTAM ADANI, Chairman of Adani Group, on Thursday, welcoming the Supreme Court order of a time-bound probe into allegations levelled by Hindenburg Research against his port-to-power conglomerate, saying this will bring finality and "truth will prevail".

"The Adani Group welcomes the order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. It will bring finality in a time bound manner. Truth will prevail," Adani tweeted shortly after the SC ordered the setting up of a committee to investigate Adani Group and suggest measures to strengthen the framework to protect Indian investors. The apex court has also asked markets regulator Sebi to complete an investigation into the US short-seller Hindenburg's allegations against Adani Group within two months.

Hindenburg has accused Adani Group of pulling the "largest con in corporate history" by engaging in "brazen stock manipulation and accounting fraud" over the course of two decades. The Adanis have called the Hindenburg report "maliciously mischievous and unresearched". Following Hindenburg's report published on January 24, four Public Interest Litigation have been filed in the Supreme Court on the issue. Adani Group company shares have plummeted by up to 80% since January 24 and the stock rout seen across Adani portfolio has wiped out investors' wealth by over ₹11 lakh crore.

Sebi bans Arshad Warsi, 44 others from mkt for share price manipulation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

CAPITAL market regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi), on Thursday, barred 45 entities, including actor Arshad Warsi, wife Maria Goretti and others, from the securities market in cases related to manipulating the share prices of two companies through uploading misleading videos on YouTube channels.

The cases pertain to uploading misleading videos on YouTube channels and recommending investors to buy the shares of Sadhna Broadcast and Sharpline Broadcast. Apart from the couple, some of the promoters of Sadhna Broadcast have been restrained from the securities market for their involvement.

"Prima facie, across the MMD (Misleading Message Disseminator), NSs (Net Sellers/ Promoters and profit makers), VCs (Volume Creators), and ICs (Information Carriers), the Noticees collectively helped create trading volumes and interest in the scrip, spread false and misleading YouTube videos, and hence induced unsuspecting investors to buy the Sadhna scrip at elevated prices, thereby prima facie violating the provisions of the SEBI Act and PFUTP Regulations," said Sebi. "Collectively, the NSs and some of the VCs have booked extraordinary profits as a result of this scheme," it added.

In addition to market ban, the regulator has impounded illegal gains to the tune of Rs 54 crore made by the entities after misleading videos were uploaded on YouTube channels, according to two separate interim orders.

As per SEBI, Warsi has made a profit of ₹29.43 lakh, wife ₹37.56 lakh, YouTuber Manish Mishra ₹14.46 lakh, promoter Gaurav Gupta made ₹7.6 crore, Shreya Gupta ₹2.18 crore, Pooja Agrawal ₹1.47 crore and Varun Media ₹1.11 crore, along with others.

The total alleged illegal profits made after the videos were uploaded was ₹41.85 crore. "Please do not believe everything you read in the news. Maria and my knowledge about stocks is zero, took advice and invested in Sharda, and like many other, lost all our hard earned money," tweeted Arshad Warsi on Thursday.

Domestic equity mkt falls 1% on weak global cues

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity market reversed Wednesday's gain and lost about 1% on Thursday, tracking weak global cues. The BSE Sensex shed 502 points to close at 58,909, while the NSE Nifty ended 129 points to settle at 17,322.

The Sensex and the Nifty have closed with a cut in nine out of the last 10 sessions. Market snapped an eight-day losing streak on Wednesday. According to market experts, global factors are largely dictating the market trend and there are chances of further decline due to near-term challenges.

Inflation data from major economies like China, Germany, the US and even India indicated higher interest rates will prevail longer than earlier expected. Shrikant Chouhan, head of equity research (Retail), Kotak Securities, said, "The risk-off sentiment continued to play as markets once again faltered on the back of weak global cues and sharp selling in technology stocks. There is a lot of pessimism in the markets due to concerns of more rate hikes and sticky inflation levels."

As per Vinod Nair, head of research at Geojit Financial Services, global markets turned back to selling mode with the US 10-year bond yield crossing 4% as a fresh set of US data suggested that inflation will remain elevated for a longer period.

"Rising bond yields are driving foreign money out of emerging markets, and as a result, FIIs were net sellers in the domestic market for the sixth consecutive day. Mid- and small-cap stocks continued to show resilience with mild selling compared to their larger peers," added Nair. Power Grid, Sun Pharma, HCL Technologies, Larsen & Toubro and UltraTech Cement were the gainers. Maruti Suzuki, Axis Bank, TCS, Nestle and Infosys were the major laggards in the Sensex pack on Thursday.

Swiggy sells cloud kitchen business to Kitchens@

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FOOD delivery platform Swiggy has sold its cloud kitchens business, Access Kitchens, to Bengaluru-based cloud kitchen start-up Kitchens@, in a share swap deal.

Kitchens@ CEO Junaiz Kizhakkayil said the acquisition will increase their reach in 52 locations in four cities. "The addition of Swiggy's Access kitchens will bolster the reach and operations of Kitchens@ in four cities across 52 locations and 700+ kitchens, providing customers with more convenient and efficient food delivery options," he said.

"Our goal has always been to make fresh food accessible by powering a super-efficient food delivery ecosystem," added Kizhakkayil.

With the sale of Access Kitchens, Swiggy will become a stakeholder in Kitchens@.

The move is part of Swiggy's efforts to cut costs by scaling down unprofitable verticals as it eyes a public listing. The foodtech major had laid off nearly 400 employees a while ago. Swiggy co-founder and CEO Sriharsha Majety recently in an email to employees had said that the company was taking a harder look at some of its business verticals and shut down its meat marketplace.

NCLAT allows another round of bidding for Anil Ambani-led Reliance Capital

SACHIN KUMAR @ New Delhi

IN a big relief for Reliance Capital, the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) on Thursday allowed a petition filed by the lenders of Anil Ambani-promoted Reliance Capital (RCap) to hold another round of auction for sale of the company under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC).

A two-member bench overturned an order passed by the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on February 2, which declared the extended challenge round proposed by RCap lenders illegal and said the Committee of Creditors (CoC) has the power to negotiate and hold another round of auctions.

"We, thus conclude that even after completion of Challenge Mechanism under Regulation 39(1A)(b), the CoC retains its jurisdiction to negotiate with one or other resolution applicants, or to annul the resolution process and embark on to re-issue RFRP (Request for Resolution Plan)," said NCLAT.

"The CoC may proceed to fix a date after two weeks for holding a Revised Challenge Mechanism or/and to take any steps for further negotiations with the resolution applicants as per the relevant clauses of the RFRP," it added. The NCLAT order came on a petition filed by Vistra ITCL (India), one of the lenders of RCap, challenging an order of NCLT, which restricted further auction of the bankrupt firm. In the ongoing RCap insolvency proceedings, Torrent Investments had emerged as the highest bidder with a resolution plan of ₹8,640 crore.

'6th round of coal auction gets solid response due to lower premium'

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE government has received stellar response in the sixth round of commercial coal mines auction due to lower premium, a top government official told this newspaper.

Earlier, the government used to command a high premium of as much as 90% or sometimes even more, for which many companies had to surrender their mines as they would incur losses, as per him.

Out of 141 mines, which were put on auction in the sixth round, the government received bids for 34 mines, out of which the result for 18 mines has been declared so far.

"This time the average premium charged was 25%. The variation was quite wide with the lower premium as less as 5% and as high as 65%. The companies' bid as per the logistics so that they don't incur heavy cost," said the official. He further said many mines, which couldn't be auctioned in the last round, were put for auction in this round.

"The government finally realised it won't be able to allocate mines to private players if they keep higher premium. That's why, this time around it lowered the price significantly, so that they become economically reasonable for the firms to initiate commercial mining," he added. As per the official, "Next round will most likely commence in the second half of March and nearly 25 new mines will be added in the auction."

Surinder Kumar Gupta, Chairman and MD of MSTC, said, "People are realising the need for coal in India will persist for quite some time. So, coal is going to be major contributor for the type of growth India is going to have in future."

Reliance, Tata Power, JSW bid for solar panel manufacturing PLI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RELIANCE INDUSTRIES (RIL) and Tata Power are among the companies bidding for $2.4 billion financial incentives offered by the government to expand domestic manufacturing of solar panel and curb panel imports from dominant producer China.

As per the reports, other companies that are participating in the bid are US-based First Solar and Indian firms JSW Energy, Avaada Group and ReNew Energy Global. Adani Group, one of the largest solar panel makers in India, gave a miss to the bidding process. The deadline for bids was February 28, after several extensions.

This financial assistance to the firms is part of the production linked incentive (PLI) scheme for National Programme on High-Efficiency Solar PV Modules for achieving domestic manufacturing capacity of Giga Watt (GW) scale in high-efficiency solar PV modules and solar PV cells. The government had allotted ₹24,000 crore for the scheme. The scheme aims to build an ecosystem for manufacturing high-efficiency solar PV modules in India and cut import dependence in renewable energy. As per the scheme, solar PV manufacturers will be selected via a transparent selection process. PLI will be disbursed for five years post commissioning of solar PV manufacturing plants on sales of solar PV modules from domestic market will be incentivised. As per the latest report, by Mercom Capital, India's solar module manufacturing capacity is expected to reach 95 GW by the end of 2025. It said India's capacity for solar module making was announced at 39 GW in September 2022.

CSK to hold pre-IPL camp in Chennai from Friday

Four-time IPL champions Chennai Super Kings will begin their preparatory camp for the upcoming edition at the MA Chidambaram Stadium on Friday. CSK captain MS Dhoni, who landed in city on Thursday, will be part of the camp. "CSK will begin training from tomorrow. The Indian team members will be attending the camp," CSK CEO K S Viswanathan said on Thursday.

WPL: JUST THE BEGINNING

WITH THE INAUGURAL EDITION OF THE WOMEN'S PREMIER LEAGUE GETTING UNDERWAY ON SATURDAY, A LOOK AT THE TEAMS...

DELHI CAPITALS

A team of utility players, strong personalities and a lot of goodwill. Might not come across as a team with blockbuster names as compared to others, but a top five of Jemimah Rodrigues, Shafali Verma, Alice Capsey, Meg Lanning, Marizanne Kapp is good as any. Not to mention Shikha Pandey, Tara Norris (the only associate player of the season), Jess Jonassen and Radha Yadav in the bowling attack. They also have good backup options in Sneha Deepthi, Arundhati Reddy, etc. If they play smart — well, their captain has more ICC trophies than any in history — and to the potential they can be one of the top contenders.

CAPTAIN Meg Lanning

STRENGTH: Tactical nous and smartness as a group
DRAWBACK: Wicketkeeper. They have to play Taniya Bhatia.

ROYAL CHALLENGERS BANGALORE

Overseas all-rounders, finishers, big hitters, you name it, they have got it all. In Heather Knight, Ellyse Perry, and Richa Ghosh, they have one of the strongest middle-order to compliment their skipper and Sophie Devine at top. Despite not having many Indian pacers, they could compensate with overseas options. With some exciting Indian talents like Renuka Singh, Shreyanka Patil, etc. they could set the stage on fire.

CAPTAIN Smriti Mandhana

STRENGTH Batting heavyweights

DRAWBACK Inexperienced spin attack

GUJARAT GIANTS

To be precise, they have gone full on with Australians and Railways players. Both the internationals and the domestic stars know how to win matches and they have made a habit of it. Sneh Rana, Sabbineni Meghana, Harleen Deol, they all have the experience. Beth Mooney. the captain, hasn't led much in recent years. However, this team is run by Rachael Haynes, Nooshin al Khadeer and Mithali Raj. They have the firepower in the batting with Deandra Dottin and Ashleigh Garnder and have the Indian players to back them up. Will be interesting to see how they go about match-ups.

CAPTAIN: Beth Mooney

STRENGTH: Aussies rule
DRAWBACK: Inexperienced pace attack

UP WARRIORZ

They have named Alyssa Healy as skipper and Deepti Sharma as deputy. Grace Harris, Sophie Ecclestone, Shabnim Ismail, and Tahlia McGrath — could they be any more clutch? The overseas bench is going to be their biggest strength. Among Indians, they have gone heavy on U19 talent with Shweta Sehrawat, Yashasri and Parshavi Chopra. Barring Deepti Sharma and Devika Vaidhya, there aren't many Indian stars with experience for them to rely on.

CAPTAIN: Alyssa Healy

STRENGTH: Clutch players
DRAWBACK: Heavy overseas dependence

MUMBAI INDIANS

Another team that has stacked up all-rounders for fun. They might not have the explosive superstars at top but a No. 3-8 with Nat Sciver-Brunt, Harmanpreet Kaur, Amelia Kerr, Chloe Tryon, Amanjot Kaur and Pooja Vastrakar cannot complain. Not to mention the likes of Hayley Matthews at top and Issy Wong — whom, on a given day, can take down opponents. As with their men's team, they have one of the most balanced squads in the league. They would be hoping one of their stars to kick-off the way Bredon McCullum did for IPL way back in 2008.

CAPTAIN: Harmanpreet Kaur

STRENGTH: All-rounders everywhere
DRAWBACK: If one has to nitpick, Indian pace options.

BAT AND PAT FOR PUJARA

The India batter pulls off another master-class, but Lyon king on Day Two; Australia need 76 to win third Test

India's Cheteshwar Pujara (L) plays a shot on Day 2 of the 3rd Test against Australia, at Holkar Stadium, on Thursday | PTI

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Indore

CHETESHWAR Pujara has faced Nathan Lyon's bowling 1265 times in Tests. To put in perspective, that's almost 2.3 days in a five-day encounter. To put it in further context, this has been one dominating subplot in the recent history of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy. 2017 in India. 2018-19 and 2020-21 in Australia. And just like night follows day, this particular contest kept bums rooted to the seats on Day 2 of third Test in Indore.

India's No 3, who was dismissed for one in the first innings by Lyon, was again dismissed by the same bowler in the second innings. But not before he showed why he's considered as one of India's finest batters among active players against spin bowling. His 59 off 142 may not be enough to rescue the hosts -- the visitors need 76 after India were bowled out for 163 just as the shadows started to lengthen -- but it will be remembered for a long time.

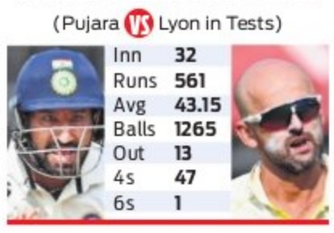
Even as other batters came and went, mostly to Lyon as he picked up second eight-wicket haul in India, Pujara raged against the dying of light. In the morning, Cameron Green and Peter Handscomb had survived a full hour as they helped the visitors to 197. If their knocks put the visitors in charge in the morning, Pujara's gave the hosts a smidgeon of a chance before it was rudely plucked away.

Firstly, coming in at 15/1 after Shubman Gill had been castled by Lyon post a rush of blood to the head, Pujara began exhibiting different facets of his technique again spin, including an adjustment. Sometimes, he skips down the track to defend. In the DRS era, that's asking for trouble. He himself has felt that a few times as he been out leg-before in this fashion.

On Thursday, whenever he came down the track, it was to punch or to flick. He didn't defend with bat and pad close together. The other little adjustment he had made was to protect his front pad at all costs. Bat was in front of the pad and he was presenting the full face of the blade. He was dropped once, by Marnus Labuschagne at cover, but you need luck on these surfaces to thrive. The host broadcaster's Pujara-related numbers -- he had middled almost 90% of deliveries he had faced -- told its own story. To attain that sort of control on a devilish strip like this was to watch a master in control of his own destiny.

CONTEST THAT MATTERED

(Pujara VS Lyon in Tests)



Inn	32
Runs	561
Avg	43.15
Balls	1265
Out	13
4s	47
6s	1

Even as Lyon was consistently wheeling away in celebration at the other end, Pujara kept the game honest. At one point, he charged the offspinner before dispatching him over wide long on. In over 1200 balls, that was the first time he had hit Lyon for a six. Prior to this shot, he had also shown game awareness by hitting southpaw Matthew Kuhnemann for two fours in the over. After that over, Kuhnemann never really managed to regain his rhythm. The end result was a chaotic little period in the post tea session that yielded India 34 runs in five overs.

To arrest the leak, Steve Smith turned to Mitchell Starc, a major win for the India batters. That, though, proved to be beginning of the end. Off his second ball, Shreyas Iyer, who was looking good for many, perished as his airy flick was caught by a diving Usman Khwaja at mid-wicket. 113/4 had become145/7 when Pujara lofted Lyon into the stands.

Then came the sucker punch. There had appeared to be an instruction of sorts from the dressing room to get a move on, to get as many runs as possible just before that six. So, when Lyon got one to pitch in Pujara's middle stump on a good length line, it wasn't a surprise to see him go for a fine tickle to pick up a cheap four down the leg-side. However, it was not to be as Smith, standing at leg-slip, pulled off a see-it-to-believe-it one-handed catch. Pujara's only mistake with that shot selection – if you can all it that -- was he got too much bat on that. Even as Lyon and Co. mobbed Smith, Pujara dragged himself off the ground.

It was the 13th time Lyon had picked Pujara in Tests. Given the context of the game and the series, this could be up there as his most important. Speaking on their battles over the years, Lyon said: "I've got a lot of respect for the way he goes about it. Nothing fazes him, whether it's bouncing at the Gabba or spinning in Indore. He seems to find a way and a method. As I said last week, a lot of boys and girls can go the way he goes about batting and learn from it. He doesn't have reverse sweeps and shots like that, but one thing he does have is an unbelievable defence. In my eyes, Test cricket is built around defence. We saw his class on a pretty challenging wicket once again."

Unlike his previous knocks against Australia, this one may just fall short.

Umesh strikes back

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Indore

UMESH Yadav likes playing with the SG manufactured balls. Using his quick-arm action and skiddy pace (most of his balls kisses the surface before honing into the stumps), he's built up quite the record on Indian surfaces. Because he almost always gets the ball to pitch on a good length or fuller, he knows he's always in business. The flip side to that particular style of bowling is he can stray onto the pads and get worked onto the leg-side but he doesn't mind that. Occupational hazard.

He once again showcased what makes him a dangerous customer on surfaces like these. Of the 24 wickets to have fallen over the first five sessions, spinners accounted for 20 (one run-out). The other three were all claimed by Yadav, who was drafted in as a replacement for Mohammed Shami, the lead Indian pacer in these environments without the injured Jasprit Bumrah.

The 36-year-old, who went back to Nagpur after the second Test as he lost his father, Tilak, turned up just when his captain, Rohit Sharma, needed somebody to put their hands up. After Ravichandran Ashwin broke through post a wicket-less opening hour, Yadav assumed centre-stage as he removed the pitch from the equation.

Under-utilised on Wednesday, the oldish ball was showing some signs of tailing into the batter when Yadav was summoned by Sharma. The Australian lead had swelled to 79, with Cameron Green appearing impregnable. Off the last ball of his first over on Thursday, Yadav breached his defence. The ball pitched on leg before straigtening a touch. Green was beaten by the slightest of movements and the leg-before appeal was upheld. The all-rounder reviewed but DRS returned it as trimming the leg bail.

India needed a collapse to get back into the game and Yadav ensured they didn't waste the opening. Against the lower-order, Yadav doesn't like to bowl any magic balls or doesn't try to get it up into the rib cage. His only mantra is fast and hitting the stumps. He dismissed Mitchell Starc with one such delivery, a length delivery coming in with the angle to make a mess of the furniture behind. With Ashwin finally finding the right length to bowl on this pitch, damage was being done at both ends. Yadav, though, fittingly had the final say, bowling Todd Murphy to return with figures of 3/12 in five overs.

In the process, he became just the third pacer to pick up a 100 wickets in India since the beginning of 2000, joining Zaheer Khan and Ishant Sharma. While it's true that he leaks runs -- his economy rate is the worst among all pacers to have played a minimum of 15 Tests in the same time period – he makes up for that shortcoming with his ability to take wickets. Among all Indian pacers since the turn of the century, he is the third for wickets (103), with an average of 24.53 at a strike rate of 46.1. All of these numbers make him an elite operator in India. At 36 and an established hierarchy set in stone (it appears he's only fourth in the pecking order behind Jasprit Bumrah, Shami and Mohammed Siraj), he may not get to add many more wickets to his tally. But he will always be there when the team needs him most, honing into the one postcode he loves most; the place where the stumps are located.

Jeswin creates nat'l mark in long jump

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THE tussle for supremacy in long jump has just got more absorbing. Jeswin Aldrin, who has had quite a few close encounters with Commonwealth Games medallist Murali Sreeshankar last season, has had a monstrous leap on Thursday in the season opening meet. He eclipsed Sreeshankar's 8.36m achieved last year with a 8.42m. To put the distance into perspective, Greece's Miltiadis Tentoglou who won gold at Tokyo Olympics managed 8.41m ahead of Cuba's Juan Miguel Echevarría's 8.41m. The world record of course is 8.95m by the great Mike Powell. Jeswin, who hails from Mudalur, a small town, in Thoothukudi district, warmed up with a 8.26m in the second attempt before lunging himself to the national record mark at the 2nd Indian Open Jumps Competition at Inspire Institute of Sport in Bellary. He had had a personal best of 8.26m at last year's Federation Cup in Thenhipalam and a wind-assisted 8.37m as well.

"Last year I thought I could break it and almost did but because of the wind it was not considered," he said after the event. Aldrin, who trains at the IIS, felt since he achieved the mark at his home ground it was special for him. Though the record has come very early in the season, Jeswin is not much bothered. "I am focussed on the season and I want to be consistent this year," he said. "I am looking at around 8.20-8.30m and I will be saving my best jump for the world championships."

There have been multiple occasions when Indian athletes failed to replicate their performances at the international level and when asked, Jeswin said that it's something new to them, especially competing at international events. "It is something... beginning for us. We did not have too many international competitions and this is the first time (World Championships last year) we are going and competing on a big stage. If we compete more in international events, it will help us Indian athletes more," he said. Recollecting the World Championships in Oregon last year, Jeswin said it was a great experience for him. "It was my debut in the Indian team and I am hoping to participate in more," he said.

Restoring Santosh prestige: Innovative touch, more in store

VISHNU PRASAD

IT would be an understatement to say that the King Fahd International Stadium in Riyadh has had some high-profile visitors in recent weeks. In January, the stadium hosted the Spanish Super Cup encounter which saw Barcelona convincingly beat Real Madrid. Three days later, the Supercoppa Italiana came calling as Inter convincingly drubbed Milan. Then there was a friendly game, PSG taking on a representative team of the Saudi league, a match that would have been a relatively low profile if not for the fact that Leo Messi was up against Cristiano Ronaldo.

On Saturday, football will once again return to the stadium. And in a surreal twist to the tale, following in Ronaldo's and Messi's footsteps will be the Santosh Trophy teams of Karnataka and Meghalaya in the final of the 76th edition of the tournament.

The two semifinals — Punjab against Meghalaya and Karnataka against Services — were played out at the same venue, albeit minus the people who had thronged it for the more high profile games. The 60,000 seater stadium was punctuated by the eerie sound of silence. If the plan was to tap into the support of the Indian diaspora, it clearly did not work. When the agreement to host Santosh Trophy matches in Riyadh was first announced, it was met largely with bewilderment. Questions were asked on what the AIFF hoped to gain from such a move. If AIFF president Kalyan Chaubey's statements after the two semifinals are to be taken at face value, then filling the stadium and generating revenue was something that the AIFF had hoped for.

"I was hoping Kerala or Bengal qualify for the semifinals. If they had qualified, maybe a lot of people from Kerala would have come to watch the matches. If these football fans who lived in Saudi Arabia turned up, it would have helped in generating revenue," Chaubey was quoted as saying.

However, on Thursday, AIFF general secretary Shaji Prabhakaran told TNIE that the move was only meant to bring the much-sidelined Santosh Trophy — once the country's premier football tournament — back into public consciousness.

"It was not our expectation that there would be a capacity crowd when we are holding the tournament in a neutral venue," he said. "The idea was to disrupt things and get everybody talking about the Santosh Trophy. I think we have succeeded with that."

Prabhakaran also said that the move had proved to be a great opportunity for the players who had made the trip to play in the same venue and use the same facilities as some of the biggest stars in the world. "There is a difference in the body language of the players who are here, when they get to play in a foreign country and use some of the best training facilities," he said. "It has been an added motivation throughout the tournament. Look at the results — the defending champions (Kerala) did not qualify. West Bengal, who have won it more times than any other team, did not qualify. Manipur did not qualify. I think that was because every team was more motivated than usual."

Time will tell what results, if any, the AIFF's experiment with the Santosh Trophy will yield. But Prabhakaran is certain of one thing — this is only the start of that experiment.

Arsenal win; Man Utd in FA Cup QFs

AGENCIES @Manchester

AS Arsenal pushed further ahead in the race for the Premier League title, Manchester United moved a step closer to a second trophy this season by advancing to the quarterfinals of the FA Cup. The biggest celebration of the night, though, was reserved for Grimsby Town's fans after the fourth-division club beat Southampton 2-1 on Wednesday.

Arsenal's focus is on the league and its 4-0 win over Everton at Emirates Stadium saw the competition leaders move five points clear of second-place Manchester City.
